EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

THE "riff raff" of Boston, to the number of 25,000 received Blaine.

REPUBLICANS, remember that October 4 is the last day to pay taxes to enable you vote.

COMMON courtesy should persuade some Maine Democrat to move to make the thing unanimous.

BETTER put a padlock on your daughter if she is old enough to run away with a coachman.

THE impression prevails that the Democrats would have felt safer if Tammany had voted to oppose Cleveland.

BELVA LOCKWOOD is a dodger, too. Her letter of acceptance says not a word for or against the Mother Hubbard dress.

WE have only one fear in connection with the Ohio election; the Philadelphia Times is predicting Republican success.

ST. JOHN, the prohibitionist, still expects to poll 1,000,000 votes. This is enough to excite the suspicion that St. John has been drinking too much lately.

OCTOBER 4 is the last day to get naturalized. As all foreign born citizens expect to vote the Republican ticket this year they should attend to this duty at once.

MR. HENDRICKS was in a railroad accident the other day and was slightly hurt. Providence or some other potent power preserved him for a defeat next November.

"NOTHING under 14,000 could be regarded as a special tribute to Blaine's popularity," was the observation of the New York Times apropos to the Maine election. How does 20,615 strike the Times as an indication of popularity?

THERE is something new in Pittsburg politics. A Blaine and Logan club of about 40 members has been organized there, each measuring over 6 feet in height. The tallest is 6 feet and 4 inches. None under 6 feet is eligible.

How much do you suppose Tom Hendricks would give if he could go to these soldiers' reunions and be sure of so right royal a welcome from the boys who "held aloft the stars and stripes, and wore the sacred blue," as they give "old Black Jack" Logan.

IN the States of Arkansas, Vermont and Maine the Republicans have gained 23,000 votes over 1880. In Vermont about 4,000 were lost, while 8,000 were gained in Arkansas and 19,000 in Maine. That is one of the crumbs of comfort which Democrats can draw from the recent elections.

Our Indictment of Democracy.

It is a remarkable fact to us to-day that a Democratic party exists at all. Old and haggard, with gray hairs over her brow, she must be endowed with a constitution like a rock to survive all the bitter experiences which have been hers. But old age and corruption are leaving their visible impress upon her and she certainly cannot survive much longer. That she is now living her second childhood is plainly evident during this campaign. Age is usually worthy of respect, but this creature does not merit any.

What a series of blunders on her part has this campaign furnished! The advocacy of Cleveland by Geo. Wm. Curtis and Carl Schurz was of itself a frightful blunder. They had covered him with praise only a short time before and at once began to oppose him. No consistent reason could of course be assigned for this, because most of the transactions of which they complain occurred previous to the time they were so willing to praise him and were known to all public men.

Then the nomination of the Buffalo sheriff who, to save a few dollars, himself executed two murderers was another and an irreparable blunder. It is not because he voluntarily acted the part of hangman, but because of that other crime which he and his party voluntarily acknowledge for which we use these severe terms in reference to him. The details of that crime are to fearful to relate, but Cleveland should now occupy a criminal's cell. It was a blunder of the Democrats because the information of his misdeeds was in the possession of members of the convention.

The publication of the Mulligan letters seems also to be a Democratic blunder and a Republican blessing. While the Democrats were withholding them and representing them to be something awful they may have had some effect on the ignorant and naturally suspicious people. But now that they are published and shown to be entirely free from all that is wrong, the reaction will be all in favor of the Republicans. Indeed, these second letters throw some light on certain expressions in the first. For instance, the fact that Blaine disposed of stock in the Little Rock and Ft. Smith Railroad to friends and afterwards kept them and the road from loss by personal sacrifice shows that he indeed was "not a deadhead" in the enterprise. And the fact that he was in great need of money at that time to keep his business interests in operation is the best possible evidence that he is not the millionaire which the Democrats are so anxious to represent him. Tilden, who was not long ago a Democratic Presidential candidate, can buy and sell Blaine a dozen times so far as their personal wealth is concerned.

What will our protection Democrats say in regard to the incontrovertible evidence recently produced that proves Cleveland to be a free trader? And there is more of this proof to follow. We truly hope that the Democrats will not withdraw Cleveland, we would like to see that party beaten so badly that resuscitation will be impossible, but we know what we would do if we were the Democratic party.

Blaine and the Hebrews.

James G. Blaine's intense "Americanism" was shown in his efforts while Secretary of State to change the policy of the Russian government towards the Hebrews residing among them, who were then objects of intense hatred to the Russians. They were coming by hundreds to our shores.

There were not many American citizens of Hebrew descent, says the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette, who felt the force of the Russian persecution, but there were enough of them to call forth from the State Department a clear statement of the principles of law involved. Russia resorted to evasions and subterfuges which were fully and forcibly answered; but, setting aside all quibbles, Mr. Blaine laid down the broad ground that "the Government of the United States concludes its treaties with foreign States for the equal protection of all classes of American citizens. It can make absolutely no discrimination between them, whatever be their origin or creed. So that they abide by the laws, at home or abroad, it must give them due protection and expect that protection for them. Any unfriendly or discriminatory act against them on the part of a foreign power with whom we are at peace would call for our earnest remonstrance, whether a treaty existed or not."

One of the Mulligan Letters.

The new publication embraces that very letter of Oct. 24, 1871, which Mr. Blaine has for eight years been accused of suppressing. The oft-reiterated charge was reduced at last to this one letter, which was named in Mulligan's memorandum, but which Mr. Blaine declared was not in the package received and publicly read by him. Continually the Times, the Post, and other papers have repeated that Mr. Blaine lied, and had deliberately suppressed this letter. Yet now the blundering rage of his baffled accusers produces it from their own stock, and makes one thing clear: Eight years Mulligan has seen Mr. Blaine falsely accused of suppressing this letter, and has known all the time that the charge was false, because he held in his possession the proof. Yet he has kept back that proof, and silently allowed the lie to go on doing its dishonest work, and thus has made that lie his own in order to blacken the character of Mr. Blaine. In the light of this fact, who should now be believed, Mr. Blaine, who told the truth, or his accusers, self-convicted of falsehood? And why was this letter then suppressed? Because, as it now proves, Fisher and Caldwell had failed to make good pledges upon which Mr. Blaine had borrowed $25,000 for their benefit. The letter referred to is the following:

BOSTON, Oct. 24, 1871.

MY DEAR BLAINE: Yesterday I received your favor of the 21st inst., to which I replied by telegram: "Mr. C. has not been in this city for four weeks. He is now in St. Louis."

I can get no information when Mr. Caldwell is to return; when he does I will lay your letters before him. In the meantime I can say nothing in regard to the matter further than what I have heretofore told you—that Mr. Caldwell represented to me that he had paid for your account, and for which he has your receipts, all but $2,500 of the $25,000 which you loaned, and for which you received as collateral $50,000 of the Little Rock and Fort Smith land grant bonds, which you since sold at 60 cents on the dollar, realizing therefore $30,000, leaving you now in advance of funds, even if Mr. Caldwell had paid you nothing.

I have heretofore advised you that I had been frequently importuned for the securities of the Northern Pacific railroad, and as a last resort I had to surrender your obligation for the benefit of the parties in interest, who now say that after so long delay they will not take the securities, but require you to refund the money.

I remain. WARREN FISHER, Jr.

What of Maine?

What is to be expected in November from Maine? Somewhere from 20,000 to 25,000 majority for Blaine and Logan, of course. When the Republicans of that State were beaten by 651 by the opposition vote four years ago, they gave 4,225 for Garfield in the Presidential election following.

When they carried the State by 14,860 majority in the September election of 1876, they gave a majority of 15,720 for Hayes in the Presidential election following.

When they carried the State by 17,216 majority in the September election of 1872, so many Democrats stayed at home that the Republicans had a majority of 32,335 for Grant in the Presidential election following.

In 1868 the Republicans carried the State by 20,403 in September, and had 28,633 majority for Grant in the Presidential election following.

In Maine, therefore, a majority in September means a Republican majority larger by several thousand in the November Presidential election.

Hendricks on the Surplus.

We directed attention to the views of Candidate Hendricks on National finance the morning following his Toledo speech. But a man who poses for so important a position as Vice President of the United States cannot be dismissed with a passing notice. In that speech Mr. Hendricks took the entire amount of money in the Treasury as surplus, and insinuated that were it in the hands of the people it would do an enormous amount of good. The "surplus," as Mr. Hendricks views it, is about four hundred millions. The real surplus is nothing at all. That does not matter.

Now Mr. Hendricks may remember that when he was a part of the Democratic administration at Washington the entire sum of moneys in the Treasury disappeared annually, and not a dollar went to pay debts bearing interest. While Mr. Hendricks was a part of the Democratic machine at Washington the national debt doubled, and the money only came into the Treasury to go out at once. There was no margin. It was all surplus, and the surplus was distributed in the usual Democratic way. It finally became necessary to borrow money to pay the salaries of the managers at Washington. Mr. Howell Cobb borrowed a little money at a discount often or twelve per cent. on Treasury paper, and perhaps Mr. Hendricks had his balance of salary paid out of that surplus. What Mr. Hendricks wants to say to the people is that the proper way to get rid of the surplus is to put his party in power. The surplus would no doubt disappear in a few days were that done. But we are afraid the debt would begin to grow again about the same time, while government securities would recede toward par. The new Democratic doctrine is that all moneys in the Treasury are surplus and should be distributed to the horny-handed by tender-hearted men like Thomas A. Hendricks, without reference to creditors' liens on them, or the law requiring reserves, or indeed anything except the enforcement of the Democratic rule to empty the Treasury.—Phil'a North American.

DURING the campaign of 1864 Mr. Hendricks, in a public speech, violently attacked Abraham Lincoln and said he hoped the people "would rise in their might and hurl the smutty old tyrant out of political existence." The attention of these self-styled "Lincoln Republicans" who are too good to support Mr. Blaine, but are whooping it up for Hendricks, is called to this little sentiment.

IN Philips county, Arkansas, the Democrats agreed that the negroes might vote for once, and the county went Republican by 2,000 majority, although at the previous election the Democrats had 1,500 majority. Dare the Bourbons allow a free election in Arkansas this fall? If they do the Blaine electors will have 20,000 majority in the state. If they do not, should the State be counted?

A NEAT little pamphlet entitled "Grover Cleveland, the Open Record of an Honest Man," informs the public that, among other noble deeds during his term as Governor, he signed "an act to prevent baby farming." Doubtless he was thinking of littte Oscar Folsom at the time.

IT is rumored that there is a letter in existence from Warren Fisher to Mr. Blaine, soliciting a foreign appointment, and that the fact that Mr. Fisher never went to foreign climes in the Government employ is[what ails Hannah the most at present.

REPUBLICAN prospects look so bright in West Virginia that the Wheeling Intelligencer thinks that the Democrats will do well if they elect one of the four Congressmen from that State.

THE Watchman, referring to Mr. Love, says "he is the defender of the looseness and venality of James G. Blaine." We don't know whether it is ignorance or wilful unfairness that makes the Democrats so careless in their statements. Please remember that neither Mr. Love nor any other republican has any occasion to defend anything dishonorable or wrong in their candidates, but the statement of the Watchman fits admirably the position of the average Democrat. Not a charge made against Blaine has been proven or is confessed by any of his adherents, while Democrats unblushingly confess that their candidate is low and venal in his personal habits and assert, in defense, what is not true, that "any other man would do the same." Indeed, the depths of personal degradation to which a Democrat is forced to descend in defending Cleveland is pitiable, and if it were not for compassion a self respecting man would be tempted to knock him down for his efforts to compare other men with Grover Cleveland. It is useless to say that this is not a correct statement of the facts, for we have heard Democrats in Bellefonte make use of this same excuse and say that they know of men in their own town as bad as Cleveland is acknowledged to be. Indeed, to hear them talk, one would imagine that the licentiousness of the days when Rome was in her pride and glory had revived.

MRS. J. ELLEN FOSTER, of Iowa, who about two years ago visited Bellefonte and delivered the finest temperance argument ever heard in this place, has written a letter advising Republicans not to defeat their ticket for the sake of voting for St. John. Mrs. Foster is Superintendent of the Legislative work of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union and a very sensible lady.

WE sincerely regret that Cleveland did not go to Chicago. Such a trip would have been votes for Blaine. A few more speeches like that which Cleveland made at Elmira would not only make Blaine's election absolutely certain, but might have inspired the Democratic National Committee with enough courage to request the withdrawal of the great "moralist" from the ticket.

SINCE the campaign opened the New York Sun and the New York Tribune are the only two newspapers from that city that have gained in circulation in the home of Cleveland, Buffalo, N. Y. It is a notable fact that both of these papers oppose Cleveland mercilessly, which would indicate that newspapers that oppose Cleveland are popular in Cleveland's home.

ACCORDING to a recent estimate, which is so liberal as to concede West Virginia and New Jersey to the Democrats, Blaine and Logan will receive 239 electoral votes and Clevelandd and Hendricks 162. If the Republicans carry those two States, which looks probable, the electoral vote will be Republican 254, Democratic 147.

"GROVER CLEVELAND'S affair with Maria Halpin is undenied," says Colonel Watterson in his Louisville Courier-Journal. True for you, Colonel, and, worse than all, it is going to remain undenied. No man who wants to keep his reputation for truth and veracity at par is going to fool around that bunch of facts.

IMPORTANT improvements have been made in the appearance of the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette. Always an excellent paper, it is now as handsome in appearance as any in the State.

THE New York Post, speaking of Maine the other day, mentioned that the Democracy had "left the state to take care of itself." Well, it seems to have been equal to the job.

GENERAL NOTES.

The oats are divided into four prizes, the first prize being 40 bushels, second 30, third 20, fourth 10. It is said to have a very stimulating effect on the horses.

Poetry.

"TENDER EYES WATCHING FOR ME."

Here, there, and away, to my taskwork resigned,
At whatever my hands find to do,
In sunshine or shadow, come rain, or blow wind,
Contented my task I pursue.
Since love in my heart is an everyday guest,
And I know that at eve I shall see
A soft little face to a window-pane pressed
And tender eyes watching for me.

Ah, those sweet, beaming eyes! How to-day, as of old,
In the days of my courtship, they shine!
Though at first, till the tale of my passion was told,
I could hardly their names divine.
But ah, swiftly I grew to their hoardings in debt,
And, with many a heart-throb, to be
A slave of the lamp that was beacon-like set
By the tender eyes watching for me!

And since, to the music of bridal bells clear,
Their love-lighted watch was transferred
From her vine-curtained cot to our humble home here
In the city's press, scarcely a word
Or a thought or an act has occurred that could jar
Our resolve in all things to agree,
While dearer each day than a bright-blazing star
Are the tender eyes watching for me!

Hard times cannot dim them, the dust and the smoke
Of the world but their lustre increase,
Over care's heavy load and misfortune's fell stroke
Shines their promise of hope and of peace;
And how oft, home-returning with weariness fraught,
Like a castaway picked up at sea,
Has my heart a new life and encouragement caught
From those tender eyes watching for me!

UNBELIEF.

There is no unbelief;
Whoever plants a seed beneath the sod
And waits to see it push away the clod,
He trusts in God.

Whoever says when clouds are in the sky,
"Be patient, heart; light breaketh by and by,"
Trust the Most High.

Whoever sees 'neath winter's field of snow,
The silent harvest of the future grow,
God's power must know.

Whoever lies down on his couch to sleep,
Content to lock each sense in a slumber deep,
Knows God will keep.

Whoever says, "To-morrow," "The Unknown,"
"The future," trusts the power alone
He dares disown.

The heart that looks on when eyelids close,
And dares to live when life has only woes,
God's comfort knows.

There is no unbelief;
And day by day, and night, unconsciously,
The heart that lives by that faith the lips deny,
God knoweth why!

EMBARRASSING.

Belinda Smith met Nelly Brown,
One lovely summer day,
Upon the rocks at Mount Dessert,
And unto her did say:

"I'm happy as the little bird
That carols in the tree.
I'm happy as the butterfly
That flutters through the lea."

"What makes you feel so happy, dear?"
Said pretty Nellie Brown;
"Is it your lovely Gainsborough,
Or Mother Hubbard gown?"

"Oh, no," Belinda then replied,
In tender, dulcet tones;
"But since last night I've been engaged
You know, to Harry Jones."

"What, Harry Jones?" cried Nellie Brown,
As mad as she could be;
"Why, since last Thursday at the hop
He's been engaged to me."

Our Story Teller.

An Old Story Retold.

A new batch of Fisher-Mulligan letters were given to the newspapers a few days ago by certain anti-Blaine Independents, who believed the letters to be genuine, but who are without evidence or information as to their authenticity, accuracy or publication complete in an ungarbled form. One correspondence covers a period of three years, from 1869 to 1872, and relates to the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad, in which Mr. Blaine and others became interested when its affairs were no longer before Congress. All the important letters are given in full below.

AUGUSTA, Me., 5th Oct., 1869.

MY DEAR MR. FISHER.—I enclose you two thousand dollar check, balance of A. & P. Coburn's installment; two thousand dollars in pay't of Anson P. Morrill's installment; one thousand dollars in pay't of Lot M. Morrill's instalment. Lot M. Morrill's subscription of $5000 is additional to those already advised, making in all $130,000. There may possibly be $20,000 more, but $150,000 will be my limit.

I received yours enclosing P. R. Hazeltine's letters from Belfast. By mail succeeding this you will receive Cashier Check for $1000, and hereafter you will have no trouble with any of the Maine subscriptions. All will come to you in Cashier Checks or money direct by express.

I note what you say about the importance of my keeping all quiet here. I fully appreciate your wisdom and your kindness, and shall endeavor to do just as you desire in the premises. The letter enclosing the Globe by same mail with this can be read by you to Mr. Caldwell if you think it expedient. I have endeavored in writing it not to be indelicate.

I shall see you in Boston Thursday noon. Don't send any receipts to Maine folks till I come.

Yours,

W. E., JR., ESQ. J. G. BLAINE.

The above letter refers to the sale of the Little Rock's securities and the construction of the road with the pecuniary aid of Mr. Blaine's friends in Maine. This was the enterprise in which Mr. Blaine was not to be "a deadhead." The two letters of October 4 and 5, 1869, are in continuation of the two letters of October 4th, 1869, which have been already published.

AUGUSTA, Me., 18th Nov., 1869.

MY DEAR MR. FISHER.—It is quite evident to my mind that at the approaching session of Congress there will be an expansion of the currency to the amount of fifty to seventy-five millions of dollars. The form it will take, I think, will be an addition to the National Bank circulation West and South.

My object in writing is to ask in season if your friends would desire to establish a Bank at Little Rock? It will be to some extent a matter of favoritism as to who gets the Banks in the several localities, and it will be in my power to "cast an Anchor to the Windward" in your behalf if you desire it. Please think over the matter, and confer with Mr. Caldwell, and let me know your desires as soon as you reach any conclusion. There is, of course, no special hurry; but I thought I would suggest the matter in order that you might mature your thoughts in good time.

It would be well to determine the amount to which you might wish to go. I suppose it might be practicable to secure a $500,000 bank; but in that locality you would hardly wish to go so deep. But they are very profitable institutions,—say $250,000. Yours very truly,

J. G. BLAINE.

WARREN FISHER, JR., ESQ.

Then follows a second letter, speaking briefly and generally of bank business. The next is as follows:

AUGUSTA, Me., 29 Dec., 1870.

MY DEAR MR. FISHER,—I am in hopes now that I shall secure $25,000, or nearly that. I find money very tight and rates well up to 9 per cent,—stiff at that.

The most of it will be for 5 and 6 months. If I had had more time and earlier notice I could have raised more, and at easier rates. I have seen most of the parties to whom bonds are due. I do not have much trouble about the January Coupon of the 1st Mortgage Bonds—but they of course growl some—on six of the Bonds. I would be glad to have the Coupon. I promised them individually, to make it right in the future. I did not in any way use the name of the Company nor commit you to anything—only myself.

On the Land Bonds I cannot make them see the equity of removing the April Coupon, and I promised to try and adjust that matter with you after my return to Boston. They all agree with one voice that no bond shall be expected for sale. I wish you could give me the benefit of that fraction making 32 of the 1st Mortgage Bonds for the $31,500 due. I use the extra $500 in adjusting the interest matter, and it fits in completely. I will make it all right with you.

What I want, then, is

$82,000 { $32,000 1st Mortgage Bonds, / $50,000 Land Bonds, and also from collateral to the notes for $25,000 an additional $50,000 of Land Bonds.

Please meet me at Mr. Caldwell's private office on Saturday at 12:15 sharp. I shall try to be there precisely at noon, but allow fifteen minutes for grace. It is very important that I have everything completed that day, as a man will come to Boston with me to take charge of the bonds.

Yours in g't haste,

J. G. BLAINE.

FORTY-FIRST CONGRESS, U. S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, D. C. Jan. 26, 1871.

Hon. William Walter Phelps, in his letter to the New York Evening Post, April 23, 1884 said in regard to this transaction: "The purchaser of the Little Rock securities got first mortgage bonds for his money, and an equal amount of second mortgage or land grant bonds and of stock thrown in as the basis of possible profit. Mr. Blaine conceived the idea that he might maintain the second mortgage bonds as profit and sell the first mortgage bonds with the stock as a bonus. He believed the first mortgage bonds were good, and he disposed of them to his neighbors in that faith. Mr. Blaine afterward redeemed them at a loss."

MY DEAR MR. FISHER:—I have this moment written to Mr. Caldwell suggesting that, in case I can arrange a meeting in this city next week with Colonel Thomas A. Scott, to come on here. I have some reason for believing that a very advantageous arrangement may be made for taking say $300,000. I will telegraph Mr. Caldwell by Tuesday evening if I can arrange the meeting, and I wish him to hold himself in readiness for the journey. Your letter is this moment received; you ask my advice. Let me have an accurate and reliable statement of your financial condition, and I can do something, I feel very sanguine, with Thomas A. Scott.

I think you will not deem me unreasonable when I again and positively urge that I ought to have good notes for the $25,000, and that I ought also to have the $82,000 bonds, which were made by yourself and Mr. Caldwell the express basis of the $25,000 loan. I do not believe y'r Company has a stronger or more equitable and legal claim than mine—while its personal hardships to me are bitter, and burning, and humiliating to the last degree.

Sincerely your friend,

J. G. BLAINE.

AUGUSTA, Me., Nov. 3, 1871.

MY DEAR MR. FISHER:—I write Mr. Caldwell this day earnestly asking him to relieve me from the very pressing and painful embarrassment entailed upon me by raising the money I loaned to you and him last winter.

Mr. Caldwell has paid me $6,000; there remains $19,000 due with considerable interest. There is due also to me, under contract with you, $70,000 Land Bonds and $32,000 1st Mortgage. Retaining in my possession the $50,000 Land Bonds as collateral to the note, there is still due to me $20,000 Land Bonds and the 1st Mortgage Bonds $32,000. I have already made one proposition for settlement, to which I call Mr. Caldwell's attention. I must have the matter settled in some way, and at once.

Pray communicate with me on the matter. Sincerely yours,

J. G. BLAINE.

W. FISHER, JR., ESQ.

P. S.—It is very important to me that I have some Bonds next week. If you don't accept the proposition I have made, suppose you consider this: Let me retain the Land Bonds now in possession as satisfaction for loaned money, and you pay me the $70,000 Land Bonds and $32,000 first Mortgage due to me under the contract. I do not make this proposition to be bound by it; I merely suggest it. But I must have the matter settled in some way quickly.

BOSTON, Nov. 4, 1871.

MY DEAR BLAINE:—Your letter of the 3rd inst. received. I hope Mr. Caldwell will respond to your request promptly and satisfactorily. I cannot say anything until I see Mr. Caldwell, who keeps out of the way of Creditors, but probably he will call upon me soon. You have had more Bonds than you state in your letter. If you have given any to parties at Washington or disposed of them to others, it is no concern of mine, and of course must be accounted for in any settlement hereafter.

Yours, etc., etc.

W. FISHER, JR.

The following letter shows that Mr. Blaine's urgent appeals to Mr. Fisher were made in order to obtain from him the bonds for which Mr. Blaine's friends had already paid Fisher:

AUGUSTA, ME., 8th Nov., 1871.

MY DEAR MR. FISHER,—I am pressed daily for the bonds, which up to this time I have never been able to deliver. Let me assure you, that if I were suffering in this matter alone I would not bother you, but wait in silence the issue of events. But how can I do this with parties who have paid their money earnestly demanding of me the consideration promised by me, but which I am not able to give because I do not receive the bonds to which I am entitled by contract. I am ready to receive any kind of reasonable proposition you may make. It is not a question of money making with me. It is simply a question of saving my word with others. I will sacrifice a great deal to get a settlement. I feel assured of your friendly disposition toward me, and, therefore, I do not wish to seem importunate or troublesome; but if you knew the agonies I have suffered in this matter during the past six months you would pity me, I am sure, and make great effort to relieve me. Pray let me know what I am to expect,

Yours very sincerely,

J. G. BLAINE.

WARREN FISHER, JR., ESQ.

The following was in reply to Mr. Blaine's letter of April 13, 1872, already published:

BOSTON, April 16, 1872.

MY DEAR BLAINE:—Your favor of the 13th inst. reached me this morning. I am surprised at its contents. I have loaned you at various times, when you were comparatively poor, very large sums of money, and never have you paid me one dollar from your own pocket, either principal or interest. I have paid sundry amounts to others to whom you were indebted, and these debts you have allowed to stand unpaid like the notes I hold. I have placed you in positions whereby you have received large sums of money without one dollar of expense to you, and you ought not to forget the act on my part. Of all the parties connected with the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad, no one has been so fortunate as yourself in obtaining money out of it. You obtained subscriptions from your friends in Maine for the building of the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad. Out of their subscriptions you obtained a large amount of Bonds and money free of cost to you. I have your own figures, and know the amount. Owing to your political position you were able to work off all your bonds at a very high price, and the fact is well known to others as well as myself. Would your friends in Maine be satisfied if they knew the facts? Are my associates satisfied to have you obtain $25,000 for Northern Pacific Railroad, and you not make the investment as per agreement? The course you have thought proper to take in regard to my request is rather a poor one, taking your relations with me, and I again ask you to reconsider it and grant it. You will find it much easier to pay by obtaining the Credit, and I selected that course thinking it to be the best. If you again decline, I shall be obliged to use the notes or sell them to outside purchasers. Necessity knows no law.

Whatever bonds are still due to you will be delivered as the road progresses. The other portions of your letter I make no reply. You know the facts; it is sufficient that I know them, and it is useless to mention them at this time. Please answer at once.

I remain, respectfully yours,

WARREN FISHER, JR.

The reply to this letter is Mr. Blaine's letter of April 18, 1872, already published.

The expression "obtaining the credit" in the above letter refers, Mr. Fisher says, to a request by him that Mr. Blaine would give him a letter of credit, to be drawn against by Fisher during a proposed European trip, Mr. Blaine being at the time indebted to him for borrowed money, for which he held Mr. Blaine's demand promissory notes.

[Confidential.]

WASH'TN, D. C., 16th April, 1876.

MY DEAR MR. FISHER.—You can do me a very great favor, and I know it will give you pleasure to do so,—just as I would do for you under similar circumstances. Certain persons and papers are trying to throw mud at me to injure my candidacy before the Cincinnati Convention, and you may observe they are trying it in connection with the Little Rock and Fort Smith matter.

I want you to send me a letter such as the enclosed draft You will receive this to-morrow (Monday) evening, and it will be a favor I shall never forget if you will at once write me the letter and mail the same evening.

The letter is strictly true, is honorable to you and to me, and will stop the mouths of slanderers at once.

Regard this letter as strictly confidential. Do not show it to any one. The draft is in the hands of my clerk, who is as trustworthy as any man can be. If you can't get the letter written in season for the 9 o'clock mail to New York, please be sure to mail it during the night, so that it will start first mail Tuesday morning; but, if possible, I pray you to get it in the 9 o'clock mail Monday evening. Kind regards to Mrs. Fisher.

Sincerely,

[Burn this letter.] J. G. B.

Not knowing your exact address, I send this to the Parker House, in order that it may [not] be subjected to any danger in the hands of a carrier. J. G. B.

THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH CO. Dated WASHINGTON, D. C., 1876. Received at 9.45, April 16th.

TO WARREN FISHER, COMMONWEALTH HOTEL.—Please go Parkers House to-morrow, Monday evening; on arrival morning mail from New York, find letter. Answer by return mail. J. G. BLAINE.

The following is the enclosure referred to in the preceding letter.

BOSTON, April—, 1876.

Hon. Jas. G. Blaine, Washington, D.C.

DEAR SIR,—I observe that certain newspapers are making or rather insinuating the absurd charge that you own or had owned $150,000 of Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad Bonds, and that you in some way obtained them as a gratuity.

The enterprise of building the Little Rock and Fort Smith Railroad was undertaken in 1869 by a company of Boston gentlemen, of whom I was myself one. The bonds of the road were put upon the market in this city on what was deemed very advantageous terms to the purchaser. They were sold largely through myself. You became the purchaser of about $30,000 of the bonds on precisely the same terms that every other buyer received, paying for them in installments, running over a considerable period, just as others did. The transaction was perfectly open, and there was no more secrecy in regard to it than if you had been buying flour or sugar. I am sure that you never owned a bond of the Road that you did not pay for at the market rate. Indeed, I am sure that no one received bonds on any other terms.

When the road got into financial difficulties, and loss fell upon you, you still retained your bonds, and you held them clear through to the reorganization of the company in 1874, exchanging them for stock and bonds of the new company.

You acquired also some demands against the new company by reason of your having joined with others in raising some money when the company was in pressing need. For the recovery of that money proceedings are now pending in the United States Circuit Court in Arkansas, to which you are openly a party of record. Concealment of the investment and everything connected with it would have been very easy had concealment been desirable; but your action in the whole matter was as open and as fair as the day. When the original enterprise failed, I knew with what severity the loss fell upon you, and with what integrity and nerve you met it. Years having since elapsed, it seems rather hard at this late day to be compelled to meet a slander in a matter where your conduct was in the highest degree honorable and straightforward.

You may use this letter in any way that will be of service to you.

Very sincerely yours,

W. F. JR.

The Colonel was finding fault with Bill, one of his hands, for neglect of work, and said he would have no more preaching about his place, as they had too many protracted meetings to attend. "Bill ain't no preacher," said Sam; "he's only a 'zorter." "Well, what's the difference between a preacher and an exhorter?" "Why, you know, a preacher he takes a ter,' and he done got to stick to it. But a 'zorter—he kin branch."

"Your trip to Italy must have been very pleasant," said a young lady to Simpson, who had just returned from a foreign strand. "Very interesting, indeed," answered he. "ow tell me," said she, "does Italy really look like a boot? You know that's the way it looks on the map."

Cleveland's Crime.

The Moral Education Society, an organization composed of prominent ladies, recently adopted the following resolutions, which reflect severely upon the Democratic candidate for President:

Believing that self-preservation is the first law of nations as of individuals, that in doing right lies the value and security of life of individuals and peoples, and believing that these great principles ought not to be disregarded at this crisis in our political history when violations of justice and purity of life are ignored or winked at, and our Presidential contests seem to be degenerating into a mere struggle for office; believing that the virtue of our women is the basis of the family and the family the corner stone of the State; and knowing that women, the natural educators of the race, are also the chief victims and sufferers from the vices of licentious and drunken men, the Moral Education Societies affirm that the time has come when the mothers and sisters, the wives and daughters of the men who cast the votes, East, West, North and South, should unite in protesting against placing at the head of this nation a man who has been guilty of criminal offences against women.

Resolved, That public and private character are inseparable.

Resolved, That Grover Cleveland, by his immoral character and criminal conduct, testified to by reputable and responsible men (not politicans), and not denied, but apologized for by his friends and partisans, is an enemy to woman's virtue, and is, therefore, unworthy the confidence and respect of every man who has any regard for the good name and honor of his mother, sister, wife or daughter, or for the purity and sanctity of his home.

Resolved, That the elevation of this man to the highest office in the gift of a free moral nation would tend to demoralize the minds of our youth of both sexes, and precipitate ruin to this republic.

Resolved, That through the victims of Grover Cleveland the purity of womanhood has received a deadly blow. Therefore, we call upon woman in every station of life, high and low, rich and poor, the cherished wife and the betrayer's victim, to do all in their power to prevent Grover Cleveland being made the Chief Executive of this nation.

Prohibition.

Mr. Blaine pursued the wisest possible course when he voted in Maine on Monday, Sept. 8. He refused to vote on the question of Prohibition and when he made a brief speech on the subject in the evening, among other things, he said:

The issue on the temperance amendment to the Constitution has been very properly and very rightly separated from the political contest of the state to-day. Many Democrats have voted for it and some Republicans have voted against it. The Relican party, by the desire of leading temperance men, took no action as a party on the amendment. For myself, I decided not to vote at all on the question. I took this position because I am chosen by the Republican party as the representative of national issues, and by no act of mine shall any question be obtruded into the national campaign which belongs properly to the domain of state politics. Certain advocates of prohibition and certain opponents of prohibition are each seeking to drag the issue into the national canvass and thus tending to exclude from popular considerations the questions which press for national decision. If there be any question that belongs solely to the police power of the state it is the control of the liquor traffic, and wise men will not neglect national issues in the year of a national contest. Judicious friends of a protective tariff, which is the practical issue of the campaign, will not divert their votes to the question of prohibition, which is not a practical issue in the national campaign.

Free Trade and Protection in the Canvass.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal, Sept. 8.

There can be no doubt in the mind of any observant man that the election of Governor Cleveland means the revision of the tariff.

It was urged last winter, as an excuse for the betrayal of the party by Mr. Randall, that had the bill introduced from the Ways and Means Committee been passed it would have been vetoed by the President; but with a Democrat in the White House there certainly ought to be no doubt whatever as to his course on such a matter. In fact, there is no doubt, except among those who have abandoned Democratic principles.

Mr. Henry L. Nelson, Speaker Carlisle's private secretary, and an intelligent and careful newspaper correspondent, writes to the Boston Herald that Gov. Cleveland's attitude as a friend of revenue reform admits of no controversy. He says: "There is no doubt of Mr. Cleveland's position, and he is as thoroughly in earnest in the cause of revenue reform as his friend Mr. Dorsheimer. In the contest in Congress last winter he stood with Carlisle and Morrison and against Mr. Randall. It is within my personal knowledge that he wrote letters to New York members of Congress urging them to vote with Mr. Morrison, both on the question of consideration and on the motion to strike out the enacting clause of the Morrison bill. At least one vote and perhaps more were gained for the bill by these letters."

"Yet, in the face of these things, the New York World denies that Gov. Cleveland is in harmony with his party on the tariff. What can the World expect to make by such an insidious attack on the character of the Democratic nominee? If he is not a Democrat, if he is not in sympathy with the organization in its great work of reform, he has no right at the head of the ticket. If he does not favor tariff reform the votes going to him in the West are obtained under false pretences.

Democratic success means a radical revision of the tariff, or it has no meaning at all. The history of the party would force a revision, even if the leaders were reluctant.

A Reversed Rebuke.

Sister Grimes, after hearing the announcement from the pulpit of the annual camp meeting, at once determined to go, says the Boston Globe.

"Ef the weather permits," said she to her friend Miss Simkins, "and Providence is willin,' I shall go an' stay through the meetin'."

Accordingly the ancient hair trunk was packed, Sister Grimes set out. The first few miles were uneventful, and were passed in counting the telegraph poles and musing upon the infinite. Suddenly a change came over the spirit of her dreams. She sat bolt upright, with a startled expression, which soon changed to one of indignation. Suddenly she faced about, and, addressing a mild-looking man with a white neckcloth, who sat behind her, inquired in a voice of terror:

"What do you mean by insulting me in this manner?"

"Indeed madam——"

"You needn't, indeed, madam, me. You know you did it, and you needn't deny it, you sanctimonious old hypocrite."

"Pray excuse me, madam, but——"

"I won't excuse you, you reprobate."

"What is the matter, madam?" inquired the conductor, who was attracted by Miss Grimes's indignant tones.

"Why, this old sinner has been insulting me."

"What has he done, madam?"

"He has—well he has been pinching my ank—that is my feet."

"Madam," said the solemn looking man, "what a monstrous fabrication."

"Suppose you arise for a moment," suggested the conductor.

"There, he's jist done it again," screamed Sister Grimes.

"Bless my soul!" ejaculated the accused.

Sister Grimes leaped from the seat to the aisle, with fire in her eye and the conductor pulled from beneath the seat a large bag, from a hole in which protruded the head of a large gamecock, glaring fiercely about and lunging with his powerful beak at whatever lay near.

"Madam," said the solemn looking man, "you see it was your own wretched bird that has done the mischief. You have accused an innocent man of a heinous offense, while you, yourself, are on your way to attend a cockfight. Thus it is that Satan betrays his followers."

All Sorts.

A lecturer said: "The roads up these mountains are too steep and rocky for even a monkey to climb; therefore I did not attempt the ascent."

A Killarney guide says that the winter employment of his class is the invention of stories to entertain the English and American tourists with during the following summer.

"Did you ever think what you would do if you had the Duke of Westminster's income?" "No; but I have sometimes wondered what the Duke would do if he had mine."

At breakfast. The new waiter addresses his mistress: "Will madame take hash?" "No, thanks." The waiter, with the most gracious air in the world, "Well, I will not insist."

Two rival sausage-makers in Paris exhibit placards as follows: "At thirty centimes a pound—to pay more is to be robbed." "At forty centimes a pound—to pay less is to be poisoned."

Mother—"I am afraid Mr. Crisscross is not serious in his attentions." Daughter—"He is awfully bashful, you know, but he is offering himself piecemeal. Last night he wanted me to take his arm."

"What's the matter, old fellow? You look sick." "I am." "Business dull?" "No." "Health bad?" "Yes. Dyspepsia." "That's too bad. Your cooking is not very good, is it?" "No." "Wife gone away?" "No. Girl has."

An attorney, about to furnish a bill of costs, was requested by his client, a baker, "to make it as light as possible." "Ah!" replied the attorney, "that's what you may say to your foreman, but it's not the way I make my bread."

A physician, passing a stone mason's shop, called out: "Good-morning, Mr. D. Hard at work, I see. You finish your gravestones as far as 'In the memory of,' and then wait, I suppose, to see who wants a monument next." "Waal, yes, replied the old man, unless somebody's sick, and you're doctoring him, and then I keep right on."

BETTER THAN GOLD.

Better than grandeur, better than gold,
Than rank and titles a thousand fold,
Is a healthy body and a mind at ease,
And simple pleasures that always please;
A heart that can feel for another's woe,
With sympathies large enough to enfold
All men as brothers is better than gold.

Better than gold is a conscience clear,
Tho' toiling for bread in a humble sphere,
Doubly blessed with content and health,
Untired by the lusts and cares of wealth,
Lowly living and lofty thought
Adorn and ennoble a poor man's cot,
For mind and morals in nature's plan
Are the genuine tests of a gentleman.

Better than gold is the sweet repose
Of the sons of toil when the labors close,
Better than gold is the poor man's sleep,
And the balm that drops on his slumbers deep,
Bring sleeping draughts to the drowsy bed
Where luxury pillows its aching head.
The toiler's simple opiate deems
A shorter route to the land of dreams.

Better than gold is a thinking mind,
That in the realm of books can find
A treasure surpassing Australian ore,
And live with the great and good of yore,
The sage's lore and the poet's lay,
The glories of empires passed away,
The world's great dream will thus unfold,
And yield a treasure better than gold.

Better than gold is a peaceful home,
Where all the fireside characters come,
The shrine of love, the heaven of life,
Hallowed by mother, or sister, or wife,
However humble the home may be,
Or tried by sorrow with heaven's decree.
The blessings that never were bought or sold,
And centre there, are better than gold.

Two Accidents and Other Events of Interest at Baileyville.

BAILEYVILLE, Sept. 12, 1884.

The usual quiet of our little village was disturbed yesterday by two quite serious accidents. Mr. Bathurst and lady, while returning from a visit to a neighbor's house, met near the Byron mine, the cart used by the Centre Mining Co., for conveying water for the use of the workmen, when their horse took fright and at once became unmanageable. They remained in the vehicle and endeavored to control the beast until they reached the cross-road near Baileyville when Mr. Bathurst lost his balance and was thrown from the buggy, which at once upset throwing Mrs. B. to the ground with great force, The animal was so thoroughly frightened that he left the road and leaped over the high pale fence into Mr. Jas. Irvin's garden where he was afterwards caught. Mr. and Mrs. Bathurst were both quite seriously shocked and bruised but so far as can be ascertained at present neither sustained any injuries that will be likely to prove fatal. They were taken to the residence of M. A. E. Clemson where their injuries were examined and dressed by Dr. VanTries after which they were removed to the home of their son about one half west of this place. The buggy became detached when the horse leaped the fence and, with the exception of the loss of one wheel, was but slightly damaged.

About the same time the above occurred, a son of Mr. Wm. Heberling in passing from an adjoining part of the building into the flint room at the Bryon Bank, made a misstep, when his leg was caught between one of the flint tables (which was in motion) and the frame of the building, and was badly bruised and fractured between the knee and ankle.

But while the above parties are grieving over their misfortunes Mr Frank G—, and Mr. John H. M.—have reached the zenith of their glory and are wondering where they will be able to get enough goods of one pattern to make their next overcoats. They are both bouncing big boys. Congratulations from Baileyville.

Wonder what has become of our "Dale-y" visitor? Who will rise to explain?

In the last communication from Loveville we noticed an interesting tradition in regard to a wagon owned by Dr. Van Tries of this place; but, if "Web's" version of the facts is strictly true, we doubt very much whether Mr. Blaine would wish himself laboring under the same difficulties which must have attended Mr. Harrison's canvass at the time referred to. He says the wagon was used by Wm. H. Harrison while traveling in the vicinity of Chambersburg in the Presidential canvass of 1846.

Look a "leedle out," friend "Web," there was no Presidential election in 1846 and moreover Mr. Harrison died in April, 1841. Please don't try to make us believe that Mr. Blaine is dead. Y.

[The date of Harrison's memorable "log cabin" campaign was 1840, which is what "Web" refers to. The error in the figure probably occurred in this office. Harrison was inaugurated March 4, 1841, and died one month thereafter.—ED.]

—There are many places in Bellefonte where new boardwalks or pavements should be built. No persons become more sensible of that fact than strangers who walk through the streets at night, especially after the street lights have been extinguished. To plunge down some offset in the pavement, to strike one's foot against some upturned stone, or to step into some hole where all semblance of a walk has long ago disappeared are alike disagreeable, but they frequently occur.

Oranges and Florida.

Better than Breezes and Blossoms—Under a New Flag.

Even the balmy air and orange blossoms of Florida fail to keep its inhabitants full of happiness and comfort. Art must help nature everywhere—in the tropics as well as among the the pines of the North. "And, chief among the blessings which are adapted to all zones," writes Dr J. G. Wallace, of Fort Dade, Fla., "is PARKER'S TONIC. It seems to have the world for a field, and most of the current diseases yield to its action. I have used it in the case of a delicate and dyspeptic young lady with the most gratifying results. It seemed to accomplish with ease what the usual prescriptions and treatment for that miserable malady failed wholly to bring about. I am also glad to state that the Tonic has greatly relieved me personally of a troublesome atonic condition of the stomach of long standing. It is the ideal purifier and invigorant."

Messrs. HISCOX & Co. call especial attention to the fact that after April 16, 1883, the name and style of this preparation will hereafter be simply Parker's Tonic. The word "Ginger" is dropped, for the reason that unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their patrons by substituting interior preparations under the name of Ginger; and as ginger is an unimportant flavoring ingredient in our Tonic, we are sure that our friends will agree with us as to the propriety of the change. There will be no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers wrapped under the name of "PARKER'S GINGER TONIC" contains the genuine medicine if the signature of HISCOX & Co. is at the bottom of outside wrapper. 16 35 4t

How Watch Cases are Made.

In 1875, thirteen men comprised the entire working force used in the manufacture of the James Boss' Gold Watch Case. Now over five hundred are employed, and the number is constantly increasing. The reason of this increase is this: In the James Boss' Gold Watch Case all the metal in sight and subject to wear is solid gold, while the remainder, which only lends strength to the case, is of stronger metal than gold, giving gold where gold is needed, and strong, elastic metal where strength and elasticity are needed, a combination producing a watch case better than solid gold and at ONE-HALF the cost.

Over 200,000 of these cases have been sold, and every jeweler in the country can testify to their quality and merit.

LUDINGTON, MICH., Dec. 5, 1882.

E. W. Marsh, of the Democrat, bought a Jas. Boss' Gold Watch case 18 years ago, and carried it until a short time ago, when I purchased it, and sold it to a customer. The case showed no signs of wear, except that natural to any case, and I am satisfied can be safely guaranteed for at least ten years more. I have sold the James Boss' Gold Watch Case for many years, and the parties who bought the first ones are carrying them to-day, as well satisfied as though they had bought a solid gold case costing twice the money. I regard them as the only cases of this kind a jeweler should sell who desires to give his customers the worth of their money or values his reputation.

WM. J. CUSHWAY, Jeweler.

A Circus Riot.

ATCHISON, Kansas, Sept. 21.—A serious row occurred between the citizens of Burr Oak, Jewell county, Kansas, and showmen belonging to Miles Orton's circus Friday night, in which a man was killed and several wounded. The disturbance was raised by a drunken citizen named Elliott, and a general fight occurred. Elliott was arrested, and the circus men took their effects to the train. The crowd followed them, and just as Mayor Mann had restored order a man named Evans appeared at the depot with a double-barreled shot-gun and fired into the train. At this moment the train pulled out and the circus men fired a volley at the crowd, killing J. Longenecker, mortally wounding Mayor Mann and slightly wounding a boy. Longenecker had not taken part in the row. He leaves a wife and six children.

The Orton circus is the same that was in the horrible affair at Greeley, Col., some time ago. It was billed to show at Washington yesterday, and thither about one hundred Burr Oak people went by special train to arrest the murderers. Sixteen circus men were arrested there yesterday morning by the sheriff of Jewell county. Yesterday afternoon they were taken to Greenleaf by the sheriff of Washington county. At 7 last evening 100 men arrived there from Burr Oak, and at last accounts 500 men were at the depot awaiting developments while the circus was performing up town. The Burr Oak people demand the arrest of Orton and his son. The crowd was orderly.

Princeton College Boys for Blaine.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 19.—About 150 Princeton College students, all Republicans, assembled in Dickinson Hall this morning. C. R. Wylie, Jr. Pennsylvania, took the chair. He said the time had come for the student supporters of Blaine and Logan to form a permanent organization. Mr. Wylie was elected president, J. C. Adams, California, secretary, and Clarence Halstead, son of the Cincinnati editor, treasurer. It was decided to elect a captain from each class to organize and drill the boys in four divisions. W. W. Connor, '85, was appointed to get up a drum corps, and an executive committee was elected. The Republicans largely outnumber the Democrats, in spite of the fact that there are several mugwumps, and Blaine has been their choice from the first. When it is remembered that 200 out of the 600 students will cast their ballots in November it will be seen that all this preparation on the part of the college boys means something.

Serious Accident.

SHENANDOAH, Sept. 18.—This afternoon a carriage containing Rev. Father Lienarkiewicz, of this place, and Rev. Father Klonowski, of Shamokin, went over a steep bank on the north side of the Ringtown Mountain, throwing them out. The Shamokin priest was seriously injured about the head and internally. Father Lienarkiewicz was but slightly hurt. The horse will have to be killed on account of its injuries and the carriage was badly smashed.

Vagaries of an Insane Gentleman.

ERIE, Sept. 18.—A gentleman of seedy appearance but perceptible culture came here yesterday and applied for work at sawing wood or teaching Greek, Latin and natural science. Afterwards he asked the landlord of the Sprague House to give him employment as a bartender. It became evident that the man was insane and he is detained by the authorities. His papers show him to be Dr. P. F. McSweeney, of Notre Dame University, Indiana.

A Murder in Clearfield.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Sept. 19.—Great excitement was created in the borough of West Clearfield, opposite this place, by the announcement that a murder had been committed at a late hour last night. The victim was Thomas Martin, a mine inspector, and the murder was committed by his wife while in a fit of insane jealousy. They retired about 11 o'clock last night. Mrs. Martin was restless, and some twenty-five minutes after retiring arose, saying she was sick. While up she put on a flannel shirt, in the pocket of which she had concealed a 22-calibre revolver. She then returned to bed and in a short time after accused her husband of not loving her. He assured her that he did and kissed her. Suddenly she turned on her elbow and leveling the revolver, fired, the ball entering his left temple. The fatal shot was fired at 12.25 and Martin died at 4.25 this morning. A corner's inquest was held and the following verdict rendered: That Thomas Martin came to his death from a pistol shot in the hands of his wife, Mary Martin, between the hours of 12 o'clock Thursday night and 5 o'clock on Friday morning.

Mrs. Martin was arrested and lodged in jail where she now remains to await trial.

Another Conflagration at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 21.—Fire broke out in Monroe & Co.'s lumber yard to-day, and when the flames were fairly under control a dense smoke was seen pouring from inside of their dry house. When these fires had been extinguished and the firemen about to go home, a dry shed of Brown, Strong & Co., some distance away, was discovered to be on fire. Two suspicious looking men were seen watching the fire at its inception without moving to give the alarm—which strengthens the theory of arson. When this last fire broke out and it became certain that incendiaries were at work, word was sent to the neighboring towns for help, and engines came from Akron, Painesville, Sandusky, Elyria and Ashtabula. At 9 o'clock this evening the fire is under control, and no further damage is apprehended. Monroe Bros. & Co.'s loss is estimated at $260,000; insurance $160,000. Brown, Strong & Co.'s loss is estimated from $160,000 to $170,000. Insurance about the same.

General Gordon's Victories.

CAIRO, Sept. 21.—Conflicting rumors reach here of the progress of events in the Soudan. According to the latest, which were brought into Dongola this morning by a messenger, General Gordon, within the past few days, has gained two victories and the siege of Khartoum has been raised. The messenger who brought the dispatches reports that on the 24th of July General Gordon's troops slaughtered the rebel army which had been sent against him from Kordofan. Another battle was fought on the 30th of August, which resulted in General Gordon's forcing the rebels to raise the siege of Khartoum, and during which Sheik Sidi, his son and their follower were killed. The above reports are confirmed by Khatem Elmoos Bey, who is holding Halfiyeh with Egyptian soldiers. The Shaggieh and other tribes have come in and tendered their submission. Sennar is now in perfect security.

A Large Flour Mill Burned.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—The large flour mill of William H. Payne, in One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, between Second and Third avenues, was destroyed by fire this morning. Mr. Payne's loss is put at $60,000 in the police estimates. It is covered by a considerable amount of insurance. Other losers are Edward H. Phillips, editor of the New York People, $2,000; General Franz Segel, editor of the Volksblatt, a German newspaper, $1,500, and John P. Graff, editor of the Local Reporter, $700. The lumber yard of William H. Colwell was damaged to the extent of several thousand dollars.

Slight Earthquake Shock.

CINCINNATI, September 19.—A slight shock of earthquake was felt here this afternoon. It was also felt at Toledo, Fort Wayne, Grass Lake, Michigan, Windsor, Ontario and other places in the vicinities.

DETROIT, September 19.—At 2:45 o'clock this afternoon the shock of an earthquake was felt very perceptably in parts of this city. Several of the larger buildings were shaken up considerably, driving many people to the streets through fright. No damage is reported. The vibrations continued ten seconds.

Cane Rush at Lafayette.

EASTON, Sept. 17.—The annual cane rush between the sophomores and freshmen of Lafayette College took place this afternoon and was very spirited. The sophomores won, but the freshmen, who labored at a disadvantage in being unacquainted with each other, gave them a hard fight. The cane was broken several times. Not a participant came out of the contest without bruises or torn clothing.

Hendricks in Illinois.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 18.—Ex-Governor Thomas A. Hendricks, who was bruised in the railway accident near Farmer City yesterday, was unable to reach Saybrook on time today to address the democratic meeting, but he finally arrived this afternoon and spoke briefly. He then returned here, and departed for Indianapolis. The crowds at Saybrook numbered between 5,000 and 6,000 persons.

The Wives of an Insane Man.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The two wives of Robert Simpson, who is confined in the insane asylum at Flatbush, have satisfied the Kings County Commissioners of Charities and Corrections, by producing marriage certificates, that their claims are honestly made. The fact that the much married maniac has $500 to his credit in the Brooklyn Savings Bank is believed to have prompted the two women to interest themselves in the unfortunate man. As the money and not the man appears to be the stake, the Commissioners of Charities have applied to the courts for the appointment of a committee to take charge of the effects of the insane husband. Under the law governing such cases a demand for the payment of Simpson's board will be made when this is accomplished.

The Telegraph Combination.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—It is quite probable that at the meeting of the directors of the Bankers and Merchants' Telegraph Company to-morrow a resolution will be offered asking for the appointment of a receiver to manage the company's affairs until the settlement of its present financial difficulties. There is every reason to believe that a majority of the directors have already decided on this course as the best one to pursue in view of the many disagreements which have already arisen. President Mott, however, while speaking with the Press representative on the subject this afternoon, denied that such an agreement had been made, and stated that he did not know what action would be taken to-morrow.

Elopes With a Slaughterer.

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Miss Ettie Turnbull, a handsome young daughter of N. S. P. Turnbull, the old and wealthy packer, has eloped with Alexander Newton, a slaughterer in her father's packing house. They were married yesterday by a Welsh preacher. Since then their whereabouts have been a mystery, but the father has placed detectives on their track. The young woman was a favorite in society and occupied a high position in musical and artistic circles. Miss Turnbull is a member of the Southside Episcopal church choir. Newton is declared to have acquired some means of his own and is a man of fine physical appearance.

Illness and Death in the Nutt Family.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 18.—A Uniontown special says: Miss Annie C. Nutt, second daughter of the late Captain Nutt, killed by Dukes, died suddenly last night of supposed cholera morbus. It is said the entire family have been taken seriously ill and attacked with violent spasms. It is reported they have been poisoned. A second dispatch from Uniontown says the report that the Nutt family had been poisoned is untrue. Annie Nutt, who stoned Dukes on the streets, died from cholera morbus, caused by eating unripe pears. She was sick only about eighteen hours. Grandma Wells mother of Mrs. Nutt, and Nellie, a little daughter, are sick from eating green fruit and may not survive.

Eloped and Married in Haste.

TROY, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Miss Emma J. Thomas, a very handsome young woman, who lives with her foster mother in Lansingburg, disappeared on Sunday, and all efforts to learn her whereabouts failed. She returned this afternoon, when it was learned that she had been married on the day of her disappearance, at Albany, to David Henry Lindsay, who, as agent for Healy & Bigelow, patent medicine manufacturers of New York, travels around the country with a band of Kickapoo Indians. Miss Thomas, who has obtained the forgiveness of her friends, made Lindsay's acquaintance at the county fair last week.

Great Firemen's Parade.

YORK, Pa., Sept. 18.—The fifth annual convention of the state firemen's association adjourned to-day. A grand parade was held this afternoon, participated in by companies from Altoona, Columbia, Marietta, Bethlehem, Conshockon, Carlisle, Reading, Hanover, Chambersburg, Mechanicsburg, Harrisburg and York, with their apparatus and delegates from many other towns in the state. The town council and prominent citizens took part in the demonstration. The streets along the route of parade were gaily decorated. The next convention will be held at Harrisburg.

The Reynolds Statue Unveiled.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—The statue of General John Fulton Reynolds, who was killed at the battle of Gettysburg, was unveiled in front of the city hall to-day. The Grand Army paraded in honor of the event, and an artillery squad fired a salute. Among those present were General John S. Koontz, of Ohio, national commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, and Past-Commanders-in-Chief Hartranf and Beath.

Captain Ellsworth Accepts.

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—Captain W. S. Ellsworth has accepted the nomination for president of the United States tendered by the American Political Alliance and will personally stump the states of Louisiana, Tennessee, Maryland and Virginia. The headquarters of the alliance are to be removed from Boston to Philadelphia.

The New Jersey Greenbackers.

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 18.—One hundred and seventy delegates were in attendance at the state convention of the national labor party today. Resolutions were adopted pledging support to Butler and West. Presidential electors were chosen.

Brief Telegrams.

FT. SMITH, Ark., Sept. 19.—Postmaster Colter, of Rocky Comfort, Ark., is reported to have absconded, leaving his account with the government short about $1,200.

TOLEDO, September 19.—At a fire in the dwelling of Joseph Bylow, at East Toledo, this morning, a daughter, 8 years old, perished in the flames. The wife and infant child were badly burned.

LANCASTER, Sept. 19.—A one-legged man, giving the name of Thomas Brown, who is confined in the Lancaster prison for a minor offense, is believed to be Michael Smith, the escaped murderer from Cambria county jail. He answers the description of the murderer very closely. The Cambria authorities have been notified.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Chairman Cooper, of the Pennsylvania state committee, to-day completed arrangements for a grand Blaine ratification meeting in Philadelphia on Tuesday night next. Mr. Blaine will review the parade from the Union League building on Broad street. Clubs from neighboring towns are invited.

Fatal Accident.

HUNTINGDON, Sept. 17.—A fatal accident has occurred at the camp-meeting now in progress near Mooresville, this county. While Stewart Wilson, of Springfield Furnace, Blair county, was driving near the grounds his carriage came into collision with another vehicle and he was thrown out against a fence with such force as to break a rail. He soon became unconscious, in which condition he remained until he died to-day. A lady who was riding with him was also thrown out and dragged a considerable distance, but she escaped serious injury.

The Funeral of Annie Nutt.

PITTSBURG, Pa., September 19.—A special from Uniontown, Pa., says the funeral of Annie Nutt took place this afternoon, and the remains were followed to the grave by a large cortege. No autopsy was held, as the physicians were of the opinion that death resulted from natural causes. Little Nellie and Mrs. Wells, mother of Mrs. Nutt, are much better and it is thought will recover.

A Huge Potato.

Our friend, Mr. Ezra Fisher, who resides on a large farm about two miles and a half above Milesburg, in Union township, was in town Thursday. He carried in his arms a huge article of some kind wrapped in a copy of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN. We imagined that it might be a watermelon, a peck of peaches, or something of that sort, but when he removed the wrapper and deposited on our table a huge potato our surprise was unbounded. It is the hugest tuber of the kind we have ever seen. Mr. Fisher recalled to our recollection a potato mentioned some time ago in these columns which was produced in the garden of Dr. T. R. Hayes in this place. The Doctor's was a more noble specimen, but measured only 15 inches around. The potato brought to our sanctum by Mr. Fisher requires twenty inches of the tape line to span it, and then there is a little protuberance adhering to it which if included in the measurement might increase it to about twenty-five inches. It weighs three pounds and would suffice for about two meals for an ordinary family. "It will never do to let Dr. Hayes beat the country people," said Mr. Fisher, and up to date Mr. F. is fairly entitled to the palm. The real name of this potato is the Victor, although the name of "Blaine" will be given to this specimen, which will suit exactly because "Blaine" and "Victor" are synonymous terms this year. Mr. Fisher richly deserves this good fortune as a farmer as all who know him will testify. He is among the very best of our subscribers.

—The improvements being made by Wm. B. Miles & Son, of Milesburg, add greatly to the appearance of that pleasant borough. They have recently built a stable of the most modern style and have repainted the entire block at the corner of Mill and Main streets. The effect is very fine and is exceedingly creditable to the business energy of these gentlemen.

—A most delightful occasion was that at the roller rink on Saturday evening. Every available seat and all the standing space was occupied and the floor was crowded with skaters. The grand march, participated in by about thirty couples, was especially fine and well executed, the movements being greeted with applause.

—The tariff was the subject which a company of traveling gentlemen discussed at the Bush House Saturday morning. The relative duty on iron in the years 1857 and '84 was the particular subject of disagreement and a bet is pending on the result.

—S. Talmage, of Tennessee, will preach at Howard on September 28, in the morning at 10:30 o'clock and in the evening at 7:30, in the Disciples meeting house in that place. By order of the officers of the church.

—The Schelling-Morosini elopement proved more that a nine-days' sensation, and in our opinion the developments from day to day have shown the groom and bride as well as her parents, sisters and brothers to be naturally coarse, unrefined people. We doubt if there is any real grief or regret connected with it and are inclined to believe that the entire affair was originated and is carried on for the sole purpose of gaining notoriety. One day Mrs. Morosini is represented to be ill unto death. The father is represented to be willing to relent on one condition, but that condition always obtrudes itself to continue the apparent estrangement. The latest reports are to the effect that Mrs. Morosini and the Misses Morosini have gone to Europe, whither we hope Mr. M. and the Masters M. will soon follow them. Let them remain there; their presence in democratic America is disgusting. The coachman Schelling is the peer of the ex-beggar and now millionaire Morosini any day. In fact, in both actions and ideas they are far behind the refinements of this age and country, and Europe is the best place for them.

—The staid, conservative and excellent Philadelphia North American has taken a new departure, and that, too, on its centennial anniversary of daily publication. On the 21st of September, 1784, the daily paper of which it is the outgrowth made its appearance and since that time it has been issued regularly. It will now be slightly reduced in size and will be sold for a cent a copy. It promises to be more lively, entertaining and progressive than ever before. A mammoth anniversary number appeared on Saturday, the 20th, and with it each subscriber received a fac simile copy of the diminutive and interesting little paper issued one hundred years ago. It is interesting solely because of age, however, for we greatly wonder how the people of that day could be satisfied with reading the latest obtainable news from Europe dated two or three months before the issue of the papers. By comparison with modern journals, it is an illustration of the progress made in the art and in all its contents shows that remarkable changes have occurred in all the varied walks of life.

—Miss Ammerman, of Tyrone, was the most skilful lady skater at the rink on Saturday evening. Especially when skating alone she seems to be the realization of all that is graceful. She led in the grand march with Mr. McDougall and did not make a single error. Stewart Laird and Mrs. Lane skated in company most of the time and so far as Bellefonters are concerned they take precedence over all others. Cooper Dare and Miss Dawson are almost equally expert. Will Brew and his very attractive lady partner were the recipients of considerable attention as the best among the quite young skaters in the grand march.

—Two of our Hebrew fellow-citizens called on some ladies on Sunday evening. One of them, instead of invoking the presence of the deity, Cupid, wooed the god Morpheus and was soon in the land of dreams. A brother of one of the ladies went to the celler where he procured a small quantity of odoriferous Limberger cheese, which he applied to the elegant moustache of his sleeping friend. The dream became unpleasant and our friend awoke. And now he vows vengeance dire upon all concerned in the trick.

Bitten by a Copperhead Snake.

A few evenings ago a son of Mr. Benjamin Snyder, of near Snow Shoe Intersection, was bitten on the hand by a copperhead snake. His hand and arm were frightfully swollen and if the inflammation had spread much further the results would surely have been fatal. Dr. Thos. R. Hayes was called in and has entirely relieved the boy, all danger being now past.

—The village of New Rochelle, N. Y., furnishes another elopement sensation, the parties being a daughter of George G. Sickles and a coachman. Her name is Miss Roma Sickles. She is the sister of Gen. Dan Sickles and her father is worth $10,000,000. In this case, however, it is probable that the son-in-law will be received into the household and the affair will not attract much notice.

—Mr. Josiah Emery, of Williamsport, has prepared valuable statistical tables which show the rate at which longevity is increasing in the United States. He proves that owing to the cultivation of Christian, temperate habits the life of the human race really is increasing in length in almost every one of these United States, there being only a few exceptions.

—Foreign born citizens, if not naturalized, should take out naturalization papers before the 4th of October and then vote for Blaine and Logan.

LINES FROM LOVEVILLE.

"Web" Writes a Complete Resume of the Events of His Section—Personal, Political and Social.

LOVEVILLE, Sept. 19, 1884.

The atmosphere has become quite cool.

The farmers have commenced cutting corn.

Loveville was visited by heavy frosts on last Sunday and Monday mornings with the mercury at the freezing point.

The time for raising potatoes has arrived and we see many thus engaged. The yield is very large, some places averaging 300 bushels to the acre.

"Grandpa" Cupp, a very aged lady of Centre Line, met with a serious misfortune last week in the destruction of her home by fire. The conflagration was caused by a defective stove pipe. All the furniture and $20 in money were destroyed.

In a chat with Mr. Robert Downing, he informed us that the frost that visited this section recently had partly if not entirely destroyed the clover seeds. He also is of opinion that the present dry weather is injurious to the new sown wheat—so much so, he says, as to necessitate the re-sowing of some of it. As we are no farmer and Mr. Downing is, we quote his opinion.

We are pleased to inform the public that the Scotia ore mines of this county have again resumed operations and at present are employing about one hundred men. It is believed that this latest resumption of operations is to be permanent and that the works will continue to run during the winter. The employment thus opened for many is a fact that is received with enthusiasm and gives a better aspect to affairs in that vicinity.

In last week's "Lines" we announced a picnic to be held at Marengo in the near future. We give the particulars as follows: It will be held on the 27th inst. The Tyrone, Pine Grove and Franklinville posts will be invited and the Pine Hall band will discourse music for the occasion. Three or four separate contests at the National game will be played. Refreshments on the ground during the day and a festival at night. Efforts will be made to secure a special train to leave the ground at 9 p. m. A grand time is anticipated and everybody is invited.

We overheard part of a private conversation between two ladies. It was sufficient to make us curious to know the real meaning of it, so in confidence we give it to you. It was while discussing the "pros and cons" of a Sunday night spark (we presume) that we heard them say something about "light hurting eyes," "closet door" and similar expressions. We are inclined to wonder if it was the moonlight that hurt his eyes and if he wanted behind the closet door, or whether he wanted the closet door put behind the lamp light so that she wouldn't hurt his eyes. But, confound the luck! we always were dumb about such things and, so we give it up.

Mr. David Cupp and that worthy "Cob," your Stormstown scribe, while attending a political meeting in Stormstown, Saturday night last, and to work off the fever heat caused, we presume, by the burning words of eloquence which they had heard, took a drive. On their return they were so (c)happy as to permit their luminous orbs to wander in all directions except the right one, the consequence of which was they drove over an aged gentleman (whose name we forget) and seriously injured him. We'll tell you what it is, gents: Next time take your drive before you get so full of that stuff (politics, we mean), and then perhaps you can see where you are driving, for no doubt that poor old man thought that to be the biggest "Cob" that ever tumbled out of a Cupp over him.

Saturday, the 13th inst., Stormstown had a regular political jamboree. We arrived on the ground too late to see the flag hoisted, but as we drove into town we beheld the emblem of our country, with an appropriate inscription, floating from a rope carried from a pole on the top of "Gray's store." At or near eight o'clock a meeting was organized by electing a president, three vice presidents and a secretary. S. D. Gray, Esq., was called upon and after a brief address music was given by the Matternville drum corps. Col. D S. Keller followed in an address of one hour and twenty minutes, and all listened intently notwithstanding the coolness of the night. After a vote of thanks was tendered the speakers and cheers for Blaine and Logan, the meeting adjourned and the drum corps gave some more lively music.

By request, it becomes our painful duty to chronicle the death of Daniel Lawrence Solt. The deceased was a young man of 28 years, 4 months and 27 days. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his death, which was caused by an accident. He was employed as brakesman on the ore cars at the Scotia mines, where he resided, and it appears that in some way the train refused to be governed by the brakes he had set. The train he was on was running to the dump for loading large cars. The dump is a trestle extending over the main track some 20 feet at which place it is 18 feet high. The cars being beyond his control, ran over the brink one car falling on him. The accident occurred on Tuesday evening. Although so seriously injured he lingered until Wednesday morning, being conscious all the time, when he expired calmly and peacefully. He was a member of the M. E. church and has lived a true Christian and exemplary life. His last words were "If it is the Lord's will I am ready," and he slept away as peacefully as an infant in its mother's arms. His presence will be missed by all as he met everyone with a smile and kind word, being the enemy of none and having no enemies. Those that are thus bereft of a dear one find it hard to bear, but with the sympathy of all and the consoling knowledge of his triumph and death, they can say "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord," and resign themselves to the will of Him who holdeth all lives in His hands. The deceased was uncle to the writer and with sad heart we pay this our final tribute of respect.

A SYMPHONY IN VERY DARK BLUE.

BY C. SCHURZ.

Air, "The Heart Bowed Down."

I cannot speak the new piece,
The piece I used to speak;
Paralysis my tongue has sieged,
Tears course adown my cheek;
O Passamaquoddy's gladsome bay!
O Androscoggin's clear refrain!
O rushing Chimquassabamtook!
I've heard, I've heard the news from Maine.

Chorus—
That Brooklyn speech was all in vain,
By Germany, 'twas not germane—
Yes, I have heard the news from Maine.

I cannot find the "still vote,"
The vote I once did spy;
Augusta whispers in my ear,
"You'll find it in your eye;"
While Passadumkeag remarks,
In tones of mocking glee,
That Carl has made another flop,
"For now he's Sadducee."

Chorus—
That Brooklyn speech was all in vain,
By Germany, 'twas not germane—
Yes, I hade heard the news from Maine.

I cannot fire the old charge,
The charge I aimed at Blaine;
The gun has burst, the powder spent—
I've heard the news from Maine.
O Umbagog! O Aroostook!
O Molechunkemunk!
Deep, deep within these boots of mine
My anguished heart has sunk!

Chorus—
That Brooklyn speech was all in vain,
By Germany, 'twas not germane—
Yes, I have heard the news from Maine.

THE WONDER

Is becoming universal as to how such an immense sale could be created in Lowell for HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. But, my friend, if you could stand behind our counter a week and hear what those say who are using it, the reason would appear as clear as the noon-day sun. The real curative power of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA demonstrates itself in every case where our directions are faithfully regarded. We would that we might get before the people a fractional part of the confidence that is expressed to us every day in this medicine by those who have carefully noted (without prejudice) its effects upon the blood and through that upon the whole system, stimulating all the functions of the body to perform the duties nature requires of them. Try a bottle and satisfy yourself.

Cold Hands and Feet.

LOWELL, Feb. 3, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—About one year ago my daughter commenced taking your Sarsaparilla. At that time she had very little appetite; could take no long walks, and her face was badly broken out with a humor. She was low-spirited; troubled with cold hands and feet; her blood seemed to be poor, and she was in a condition which caused us great anxiety. After taking one bottle of your Sarsaparilla she began to improve; and she now has a good appetite and can take much longer walks. Her humor is nothing compared with what it was one year ago. She is in better spirits, is not troubled with cold hands and feet as previously. And I attribute this improvement in her condition largely to your Sarsaparilla. She has taken six bottles, and intends to continue its use. I was inclined to oppose the trial of it at first. I now have great faith in it as a blood purifier. Very truly yours,

SPICES.—The best cook in the land cannot cook successfully without pure, fresh spices. These we have in every variety. Well-seasoned food adds to long life and happiness.

SUGARS AND SYRUPS.—In Sugars and Syrups we have all the best brands in the market. Much of the sugar now sold is adulterated, and in an article of this kind there is great waste. We buy from reliable dealers, and handle only the genuine goods.

TEAS AND COFFEES.—No breakfast can be thoroughly enjoyed without a good cup of coffee or tea. A drink of this kind is stimulating and goes right to the spot. Our Coffees and Teas are fresh and strictly pure. The fragrant odor which escapes from the steaming pot as it comes in from the kitchen will convince you of this. We sell more coffee than any other two houses in the county. Why? Because we sell the best and the people know it.

NUTS, CONFECTIONERY, ETC.—In Nuts and Confectionery we have everything that is nice, and just what will please the young folks, and old folks as well. Our candies are all pure and wholesome; We do not handle the highly-colored, poisonous mixtures that ruin and decay the teeth. We have new Florida oranges (this fall's crop), fine Figs and Prunes, and a choice line of Canned Fruits and Preserves. Bear this in mind when preparing to Celebrate the merry holidays.

—o—

We make special mention of the above lines of goods because they are all leading articles at this season of the year. In other lines our stock is equally fresh and complete.

We buy the Best Goods and sell at the Lowest Figures.

Explosion of Four Boilers.

HARRISBURG, September 17.—A special to the Patriot from Lykens says a terrible boiler explosion occurred last evening at Lykens Valley colliery, owned by the Pennsylvania railroad company. The explosion occurred a little after 5 o'clock, and was heard for many miles. Had it taken place half an hour later the loss of life would undoubtedly have been great. The explosion was caused by a defective boiler. Four boilers exploded together, throwing iron and timbers in every direction. The explosion has caused a total suspension of work at Lykens Valley colliery for several days. The shut down will last for weeks.

Paul Schultz, Joseph Dunlap and George Bright were somewhat painfully injured by being bruised and scalded. The only person who is mortally injured is Elmer Kocher, driver boy, whose flesh was burned all over his body. He also sustained internal injuries, and it is thought he cannot live until morning. He resides at Coaldale. The loss caused by the explosion will reach $10,000, without taking into consideration the loss by delay in working the mine.

The Cholera in Europe.

NAPLES, September 16.—The excesses of Sunday caused a slight increase in the number of cases of cholera yesterday. King Humbert, in his journey to the North was greeted along the whole way with ovations of enthusiasm. While the King remained in this city all his provisions and even the wines and waters he used were sent from Rome. Monsignor Tonello, the priest who was with the King on his visits to the bedsides of the cholera patients at Busca, has succumbed to the disease. The British Consul at Naples has obtained a separate ward for British and other foreign cholera patients.

PARIS, September 16.—Deaths from cholera continue to be reported from the provinces and from various parts of Spain. Fourteen deaths from cholera are reported in the East Pyrenees the past twenty-four hours. All passengers arriving on vessels from England are prohibited from landing at Malta unless they can produce certificates to show that they have not been in any continental cholera infected district during the twenty-one days previous to their embarcation.

Badly Shaken Up.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 17.—The west bound passenger train on the Indiana Bloomington and Western railroad was thrown from the track in Farmer City at 5 o'clock this morning by a broken rail. Attached to the train was the private car of President Henderson, containing Hon. T. A. Hendricks and party en route to this city. This car rolled down an embankment fifteen feet deep and turned bottom up. It was with much difficulty the occupants were gotten out. Governor Hendricks was slightly bruised, but not so as to interfere with his engagement here.

The following is the list of injured: Colonel J. E. Mesmore, Grand Rapids, Michigan, shoulder broken and seriously injured, left at Farmer City; James Lee, of Peoria, arm broken and badly bruised; an unknown lady fatally injured; Mrs. Shoemaker, wife of the editor of the Indianapolis Sentinel, severely bruised, returned home; Dr. G. A. Wilson, of Peoria, bruised about the chest and shoulders. Several others were slightly hurt.

A Mining Village in Danger.

ASHLAND, Sept. 16.—Great uneasiness exists among the inhabitants of Dark Corner, a small village a mile west of here. The mountains in the neighborhood of the dwellings have been showing signs of weakness for some time. Yesterday large cracks appeared in the surface, some of them extending over five hundred yards. A large area of surface has already caved in and more cavelns are expected. Several families have removed from their houses. The place is undermined by the workings of the North Ashland Colliery and the miners working near the breaks were compelled to suspend, owing to the heavy working of the mountain.

Witchcraft in Berks County.

READING, Sept. 16.—The village of Shoemakersville, this county, is excited over a supposed case of witchcraft. Mrs. Daniel Yoh, a young and pretty married woman, attracted the attention of her friends by her strange and unnatural actions. She is now quite violent and her family were compelled to tie her hands and feet, in which condition she is confined to her bed, constantly attended by two persons. A "doctor" of this city, who has considerable experience in cases of witchcraft, has been summoned and says that she is under a "spell." He has "pow-wowed" for her and also prescribed medicines.

Fierce Forest Fires in Michigan.

PORT HURON, Mich., Sept. 17.—Forest fires are burning fiercely on the west side of this city. The people all left Heronia beach this morning. A watch was kept last night for any sparks that might be blown to the town. At one time it seemed as though the bridge and a number of buildings must go, but they were saved. The grass in the meadows has been burning this afternoon. The fire department was called out to check the flames, but their efforts have been futile, and the only hope for the safety of the town lies in rain. The fire is believed to have originated from sparks from a locomotive.

Prospects in the West.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Secretary McPherson, of the Republican Congressional Committee, is daily receiving letters from all parts of the country, telling of the beneficial effect of the result of the Maine election on the campaign in the various other states. They report that it has had a wonderfully encouraging effect by showing that the people of Mr. Blaine's own state endorse his private and public character. Mr. McPherson to-day received a letter from an old congressional friend, who has been traveling extensively through the Northwest, in which he says that Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin will certainly go Republican by large majorities. He says there is no truth whatever in the report of German opposition to Blaine in any of those states, and that the presence and speeches of Carl Schurz will do very little, if any, harm to the Republican ticket.

The Mulligan Letters.

PORTLAND, Me., September 15.—The Kennebec Journal to-morrow will contain the following: "Blaine, accompanied by his wife, arrived from Bar Harbor this afternoon. In answer to a reporter of the Journal who called at his residence to ascertain if he wished to say anything in regard to the letters given to the public by Fisher and Mulligan, Blaine replied that his only desire was that every voter in the United States might read the letters for himself, and not form his judgment from editorial misrepresentation in partisan journals. There was not a word in the letters, Blaine added, which was not entirely consistent with the most scrupulous integrity and honor. He hoped that every Republican paper in the United States would publish the letters in full."

Seventy Thousand People Drowned

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—The San Pablo arrived yesterday evening with Hong Kong dates to August 14th and Yokohama to 30th. Information reached Canton of a frightful inundation of Kiang Sai Province. The news dated from King Tah, the chief centre of the pottery manufacture and one of four great markets of the empire. The floods lasted four days. The entire country was submerged to the depth of sixty feet. Whole towns were swept away. It is believed fully seventy thousand persons perished. It was feared a pestilence would follow.

Movements of Mr. Blaine.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 16.—Mr. Blaine will leave here on his western trip to-morrow afternoon. Senator Frye will accompany him as far as New York. Mr. Blaine will spend Wednesday night in Boston and on the following day attend the Massachusetts state fair at Worcester. He will arrive in New York on Thursday night, remaining there several days, after which his route will be eastward but how far has not yet been decided. He will certainly visit Ohio at all events.

Tammany Hall's Attitude.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 15.—The Press [Independent Democratic,] says, in its issue of this evening regarding, Tammany: "To ignore the spirit and damaging effect of Tammany's sullen acceptance of the ticket is to show profound ignorance of the politics of the Empire State. The hooted and otherwise contemptuously treated Grady could poll more of Tammany's votes for president than Grover Cleveland will receive."

Terrible Boiler Explosion.

COLUMBUS, Ga., September 15.—A boiler of the cotton compress at Eufaula, Alabama, exploded this evening, setting fire to the building and three hundred bales of cotton were consumed. Another says four men were killed and several injured. Four hundred bales of cotton were burned. Loss, $100,000. The killed are Mike B. Pickett, white, John Wimbish, George Richardson and Jere Brooks, colored.

A Philadelphia Blaze.

PHILADELPHIA, Sep. 15.—The furniture and wool carpet manufactory of J. W. Boughton, on William st., near Twelfth, was totally destroyed by fire to-night. The loss is estimated at $50,000; insured for about one-half that amount. The roofs of nine small dwellings in the rear were burned, and the occupants sustained considerable loss by the damage and destruction of furniture.

The Congressional Conference.

SOMERSET, Sept. 16.—The congressional conference, which reassembled here last evening, continued its sessions to day. The balloting developed nothing new and was the same as previously announced, viz: For Campbell, 6; McCamant, 3, and Jordan, 3. This evening the conferees have been released.

The Cold Weather Accounted for.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 16.—An exceedingly cold wave has visited the maritime provinces. In Cumberland county several inches of snow has fallen. On Sunday five inches of snow fell at Moncton, N. B. The crops are suffering greatly from the unseasonable weather.

Dangerous Cave-ins.

ASHLAND, Pa., Sept. 16.—There have been extensive cave-ins of earth recently in the vicinity of the dark corner. A number of houses are in danger of destruction. The surface over the North Ashland mine is cracked for a quarter of a mile and work in the mines has been suspended.

Mr. Fish will Vote for Blaine.

Hamilton Fish, Secretary of State during President Grant's administration, has written the following letter to the editor of the New York World:

Your gentlemanly correspondent, in his letter from this place, printed in the World of this date, has misapprehended, in some respects, my replies to his questions. It is true that I expressed the great respect for Governor Cleveland which I sincerely entertain, and my approval of the general tone and conduct of his administration of the State government, but I stated very explicitly that I was not prepared to put the government of the nation in Democratic hands. And I did not express any censure or criticism on Mr Blaine's "doings in Congress," and any reference which may have been made to his course in the Department of State was restricted to a want of concurrence as to the wisdom or policy of some parts of his administration of that office. Being (as I am represented as saying) "out of politics," I did not feel called upon to announce through the public press for whom I may vote, but as without any wish of mine I am thus brought before the public, I may add that I expect to vote for Mr. Blaine.

Respectfully yours,
HAMILTON FISH.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. A literary celebrity happening to visit a lady of his acquaintance, found her engaged in watching with great interest the freaks of a tame raven hopping about the room. "Come and see my purchase," she said. "I bought him yesterday." "In memory of Edgar Poe?" he asked. "No," she replied, "you'll never guess why." "I give it up." "Well, then, I was told that ravens lived three hundred years, so I thought I would buy one, just to satisfy myself whether they did or not."

The term "sweetness and light" did not originate with Matthew Arnold. Dean Swift, in "the Battle of Books" compares the ancient and the modern writers as follows: "The difference is that, instead of dirt and poison, we have rather chosen to fill our hives with honey and wax, thus furnishing mankind with the two noblest of things, which are Sweetness and Light."

Skill vs. Ignorance.

As a perfect pharmaceutical preparation, we are told that Hood's Sarsaparilla surpasses any proprietary article upon the market. Even to our inexperienced eye we see positive indications of the truth of the foregoing. A glance at the article shows the scrupulous neatness and care with which the details of its manufacture and putting up must be conducted. These points are of importance in any business, but in the manipulations of remedies for the relief of human suffering they become of supreme importance, and only such medicines are worthy public confidence.

Polishing the Wrong End.

Many men daily polish their boots who never give a thought to the condition of their hair, except to harrow it occasionally with a brush and comb, or submit it to the paralyzing attentions of the average barber. What happens? Why, this: From neglect, mental anxiety, or any of a score of causes, the hair turns prematurely gray and begins to fall out. Parker's Hair Balsam will at once stop the latter process and restore the original color. An elegant dressing, free from grease.

Fish, would vote for Cleveland, and now Fish crushes that hope out of existence by saying that he was misunderstood as he intends to vote for Blaine.

—On Wednesday Bellefonte was visited by a select party of ladies and gentlemen from Lewistown who went in conveyances to the famous Penn caves. After returning from the caves they spent a few minutes at the roller rink and looked at other places of interest. They were six in all, but the only members of the party with whom we are acquainted are Miss Ada James and Miss Banks.

Miss Sarah Densil Trcziyulny.

This aged lady died in Bellefonte on Tuesday, September 16, at 11.30 a. m. She was the last member of a family which has been associated with the history of Centre county since 1791, and who first came here to escape oppression in Poland, their native land. Mrs. Macbride, the aged mother of Miss Mary Macbride, who perhaps knows as much of Miss Trcziyulny as anyone, informs us that deceased was 81 years of age at the time of her death.

Miss Trcziyulny was the daughter of a Polish nobleman who fled from his native country to France and thence to America. In regard to the date of his arrival in the United States together with other interesting facts we quote from the recent history of this county, by Hon. John Blair Linn, as follows: "Charles Trcziyulny came from Poland in 1791, and was identified with the early settlement of Philipsburg. He was an engineer of ability, and one of the first canal commissioners of the State (in 1824), and was a staunch advocate of river improvement in preference to canals. One or more able reports of Mr. Trcziyulny are among the records at Harrisburg. He filled the office of justice of the peace of Centre county, and June 18, 1833, was appointed the successor of Hamilton Humes in the Bellefonte post-office. He died in Bellefonte on the 9th of July, 1851, at the extreme age of ninety-four years. His wife, Catharine, born in Philadelphia, died July 21, 1858, aged 80 years. Their son Henry P., who was deputy surveyor of Centre county a number of terms, died at Milesburg, Feb. 31, 1878, aged 78 years. Another son, Hyacinth B. was at his death, April 2, 1862, street commissioner of Bellefonte and superintendent of the water works."

It is said that "Count" Trcziyulny was a remote heir to the crown of Poland. He left vast estates in that land, but never succeeded in gaining many possessions here. He was esteemed, however, for his decided opinions, gentlemanly bearing and extensive learning. It is said that Charles was not his original name, but was given him by his attorney, William Petriken, Esq., when writing a deed and that "given" name he carried to his grave.

Sarah, the subject of this notice, had two sisters. One was named Sophia. We have not learned the Christian name of the other, but she married a Mr. Campbell, and lived until a few years ago in Lock Haven, where her daughter still resides.

There are a few nieces and nephews still bearing the name Trcziyulny, but the deceased was the last representative of the noble Count's own family, which adds to the interest which attaches to her memory. She was a devout Christian lady, of Presbyterian faith, and her end was peace.

The funeral of Miss Sarah D. Trcziyulny was held at 2 o'clock on Thursday afternoon at her late residence on Logan street.

A Touch of Fall.

There is a breath of chilliness in the morning air. Athwart the fields —adown the hills, the auriflame of autumn appeareth and soon like an army with banners of russet and gold the many colored legions of fall will take possession of the land. It is the season, or will be directly, of the ambient atmosphere, when the sun roseates with ruddier rays, when the early frosts glitter on the sharp blades of the still green grass and an extra bed quilt is needed as one turneth over for an ante-breakfast snooze. It is the season when the turgid blood of the heatish summer flows more clearly and exuberantly—when the crimson current leaps lively through the veins and man and woman and even the politician seems born again into the newness of a better life, so full of an electrical impetus are the keen, opportune, wholesome breezes of early autumn, when the air seems cleaner and fresher and unladened of its malaria and poisons of the dog days and the hay-fever period. It is the time for the debilitated oyster to expand its lungs and grow fat and hard, for the peach to present its plumpness, likewise the plum; for the harvest apple to mellow itself and the grapes to gather their lusciousness. It is time for ice cream to take a vacation and the young girls that surround it to shed their Mother Hubbards and don less lightsome apparel. It is the time when the farmer sharpens the teeth of his big dog on the grind stone to interview the back pants of the small boy who climbeth the stone wall or the rail fence for hickory nuts that the first heavy frost will shake out; it is the time for the perfect development of the princely pumpkin, for the pies of our mother's days, or the jack o'lantern of the mischievous urchin. It is the period when the farmer, emulous for fame, gets his name in the country print by laying a mammoth squash on the table of ye editor, who will soon write a double-leaded leader, in which he will eloquently and urgently expatiate upon the necessity of a load of wood to meet the overdue subscription and save his family from freezing to death. It is the time of the big Granger's picnic and of state and county fairs, where judges who know nothing of what they examine, will pass upon prize bulls, blooded stallions, big hogs, crazy quilts, canned peaches and home-made paintings. It is now the politician preempts every stump in the land and whoops it up for—the man who pays him best. It is the time of happy "harvest homes"—of gathered grains in groaning graneries—of preparation for the frigidness of winter. It is the —and all the times are good for such work—for kind acts, brave deeds, generous actions and stronger, truer, purer lives for all men and all women.

Death of Hugh Moran Hibler.

It was with peculiar regret that we heard the intelligence of the death in Bradford, McKean county, Pa., on Monday morning, Sept. 15, of Hugh Moran Hibler, son of Dr. Augustus Hibler, of this place. Moran left Bradford several years ago, and since then has filled important positions in banking houses in the vicinity of Erie and Bradford, most of the time in the latter city, where he was when he died. His health has been impaired for some time past. His disease was consumption and he spent several months in the South in the quest of renewed health, his wife and child accompanying him. His physician ordered him to return to the North a few weeks ago and we understand that his little child died soon after reaching Bradford. "Moran," by which name he was better known to his friends in Bellefonte, continued to grow worse, and on Saturday evening his father received a telegram requesting his immediate presence at his son's bedside. It was then too late to depart that evening, and on Monday morning he was shocked to receive notice of his son's death. He was informed that Moran's body would be taken to Utica, N. Y., for interment and departed for that city on the 8.45 p. m. train to be present at the funeral on Wednesday.

Moran was born on the 16th day of December, 1855, and was consequently 28 years, 8 months and 29 days old. He was a most excellent, conscientious, industrious young man, and was personally quite handsome in appearance. His relatives and friends in Bellefonte hold him in the highest esteem, and it will be long ere his memory shall fade from grateful and pleasant recollection. His young wife has the sympathy of all.

—The roller rink was about as lively Wednesday evening as usual. Mr. Cooper Dare was on the floor and showed that he is a very skillful manipulator of the rollers. Mr. Solomon Goldsmith moved along very gracefully and as happy as a lord. Linn Harris and his friend tried a variety of new evolutions and are evidently aiming to do some fancy execution on rollers in the near future. Cal. Brachbill did not move rapidly, but his movements were sure and he "got there" about as soon as any of the others. Mr. Mullen, the assistant manager of the New Brockerhoff House, had on a dashing uniform that fairly takes the feather from the Skating Club crowd and in waltzing or any of the other fancy movements is equal to about fifty of the ordinary sort. George Washington, &c., Kennedy is learning desperately fast and moves along the track with about as much force and effectiveness as a steam engine. Falls are rare occurrences now and are usually the indication of a new beginner, though the most expert are at times liable to come down solidly.

—All things considered, Thursday was as fine a day as could be desired, and at an early hour the conveyances filled with members of the various grange organizations and their friends wended their way up the sides of Nittany mountain from both directions to the place of the day's picnic. It is to be hoped that most of the Patrons of H. were sensible enough to wear clothes light in color, for when the dust settles a half inch thick on one's garments, as was unavoidably the case to-day, it is most convenient to have clothes on that will not show the accumulated dust so plainly. We believe the weather is usually very dry on the occasion of these picnics and perhaps the design is to show the contrast between the weather and the proceedings of the picnic as the latter are usually quite lively and entertaining, and it has never even been hinted that they are dry affairs.

—An appliance of some sort is to be attached to the water reservoir which will inform the engineer at the water works when the reservoir is full and thus spare him the trouble of climbing to the top of the hill.

At a Picnic.

The following communication which was written to be read before the last meeting of Victor Grange, No. 159, was not read at that time, and its author, a lady, sends it to the News for publication. It relates her experience at Williams Grove, as follows:

Victor Grange, No. 159.

Brothers and Sisters: I have no doubt that you all want to hear about the picnic. The writer of these lines considers Williams Grove very beautiful. Almost immediately upon alighting from the cars one steps on moss and the grove is not far away. It is well watered with abundance of shade, rendering it cool and comfortable even on the warmest days. There were many excellent canvas tents for the reception of those who desired to camp out and our party occupied one of them. It was not very large; indeed, almost too small for people of large ideas or avoirdupois, and we had recourse to many expedients to get along as good farmers should. We were packed in so tight that one of our sisters had to give the command to turn when we were tired lying in one way, and of course the act was performed by all simultaneously or there would have ensued inextricable confusion. But by imitating the example of fowls we surmounted that difficulty.

This is the way we kept house: We took our provision along and borrowed a stove. Some of the brothers gathered sufficient wood to build cooking fires—where, I cannot tell We had a table that seated twenty-one. When we lacked anything we borrowed from a neighbor, and neighbors are willing to disoblige themselves on such occasions. Our first meal was supper and was very enjoyable. During the time we spent there a few showers fell, but that only rendered it more delightful. One of the brothers had the misfortune to lose one of his most cherished relics, which a lady friend had given him. To his surprise, a sister found it, and packing it nicely in a little box returned it to him, and he was so happy that he had to take another crow.

Victor.

At the Rink.

There were ten couples on the floor at the skating rink Tuesday evening, the 16th, during the grand march, and the spectacle presented as they moved through the different and beautiful evolutions was attractive and impressive in the extreme. The walls were tastefully decorated. There certainly could not have been more appropriate uniforms chosen than the Skating Club have provided themselves with. They are rich in quality and exceedingly tasteful. The seating capacity for spectators was increased expressly for this occasion, and the number of persons present was larger than ever before. The Zion band discoursed the choicest music during the evening until after 11 o'clock. The demonstration is acknowledged to have been a tremendous success in every particular and the Skating Club as well as the managers of the rink are to be congratulated on the result.

—The publication of another installment of the Mulligan letters is hailed with great pleasure by the Republicans of Bellefonte. We publish the latest installment in another column and permit Republicans to judge for themselves. The last letter from Warren Fisher is a sufficient evidence that there was nothing dishonorable in the transactions referred to. "Your action in the whole matter was as open and as fair as the day," writes Fisher to Blaine. After you have read these letters obtain a copy of the Buffalo Evening Telegraph relating the charges against Cleveland, which Cleveland and his friends acknowledge are true, and compare them. Then if you are not compelled to abhor Cleveland and vote for the great statesman, Blaine we sincerely pity you.

Concerning Boiled Cabbage.

Many of our housekeepers are fond of boiled cabbage but rather than endure the odor which arises therefrom while it is being prepared do without it. A correspondent of the New York Sun sends the following to that paper for publication: "Here is a piece of information for housekeepers. We have tried it several times. Everyone knows how disagreeable the odor of cooking cabbage is. All your neighbors can tell when you are going to have cabbage for dinner. If you put a small piece of red pepper in with the cabbage there will be no smell. The pepper absorbs the odor of the cabbage. Don't put in too large a piece of pepper, however, or the cabbage will be hot."—Altoona Tribune.

—The Skating Club of this place expect to visit Lock Haven some time in the near future, where doubtless their fine appearance and graceful movements on rollers will attract admiration.

Special Vote of Thanks.

At a regular meeting of Gregg Post No. 95, Grand Army of the Republic, held on Saturday evening, Sept. 6th, instant, Comrade Charles A. Glenn offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That a vote of thanks be and is hereby tendered to Mrs. S. T. Gibbs, wife of Comrade Gibbs, of Milesburg, Pa., for the very elegant and appropriate decoration that was suspended in front of the Post room during the week of the Grand Army encampment at Bellefonte.

The decoration consisted of a large eagle, flag and star made of evergreens and immortelles, the whole representing the badge of the Grand Army of the Republic, made and arranged by Mrs. Gibbs for the occasion.

Married in Altoona.

The following brief item from the Altoona Tribune of Tuesday morning, the 16th, will be read with much interest:

Mr. John Barnes, of Bellefonte, and Miss Rosa Crouse, of this city, were married yesterday afternoon by Rev. H. Baker, the ceremony being performed at the residence of the officiating clergyman. The newly married couple left on mail express last evening for Tyrone, from which place they will go to Williamsport where they will remain for several weeks. They will make Bellefonte their future home.

Mr. Barnes is a very worthy young young man, a plumber by trade, which is the equivalent of a million any day. He married a young lady who at one time lived in Bellefonte and will be an excellent helpmeet to him. The happy couple have our best wishes.

—Mr. Lawrence Solt, a young man employed at the Scotia ore mines, was terribly injured on Tuesday, the 16th, and died the next morning. Both arms were fearfully mutilated by being caught between the cars and one of them had to be amputated. Mr Solt was about twenty-seven years of age and leavs a wife and two children, his wife being in very delicate health. They formerly lived in Bellefonte in Bush's brown row.

—A. A. Dale, Esq., has been in Philadelphia since Monday, the 15th. He went away very quietly, much like the departure of his brother Clem. a few months ago. Al. said his mission was one of business, which we have heard young men say before under similar circumstances. We extend congratulations to Al. and any other person concerned in this very interesting affair. He arrived home Wednesday morning.

—Milesburg has one of the most careful and capable blacksmiths in the county in the person of Mr. Roland Mallory. In numerous instances where all other blacksmiths have failed to do work in a satisfactory manner he has given perfect satisfaction. In no branch of the trade is he more successful than horse shoeing.

A Noted Man.

Among the men who have made their names household words within the last half century, stands Mr. Speer, of Passaic, N. J. He is the pioneer grape grower of this country, and he has demonstrated beyond a doubt that the foreign grapes can be raised here and that as fine a wine can be produced in this country as in Europe, and for medicinal uses Mr. Speer's wine surpasses that of the old country. Ladies in delicate health, and aged people find it to be the best wine they can procure.—Winsted Argus.

A Visit from Railroad Magnates.

On Friday a large number of the principal officials of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company visited Snow Shoe to inspect the property of the company in that vicinity, where they are erecting about 150 coke ovens with the purpose of manufacturing coke on an extensive scale. While in that place they were met by Mr. E. C. Humes, president of the First National Bank, who invited them to visit Bellefonte, to inspect the ore property and other business interests of our little town. They accepted and Mr. Humes telephoned for the necessary number of carriages to be in readiness for them at the depot.

They arrived here at about 3:30 o'clock, the train consisting of one of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's handsome coaches and the magnificent coach owned by the Packer heirs and now used by the Lehigh Valley R. R. Co. The following gentlemen alighted from the coach: E. P. Wilbur, President of the Lehigh Valley R. R. Co.; Mr. Mercur, Gen. Superintendent; Mr. Lathrop, Superintendent of the Lehigh Valley operations in this vicinity; Dr. Lamberton, President of the Lehigh University; Mr. Hartshorn, Vice President of the company; H. S. Drinker, Esq., an attorney; S. S. Blair, of Tyrone; W. A. Stevenson, J. I. Blakeslee, Israel Morris, R. H. Downing and Mr. Humes, the latter of this place. The gentlemen entered conveyances and made a hasty but very enjoyable trip over a portion of the ore property in this vicinity. We are informed that what they saw made a very favorable impression. Their visit was more enjoyable because they met numerous relations and acquaintances among our citizens. They remained several hours and then continued their journey.

The Lehigh Valley car, "Minerva," is a magnificent affair with royally beautiful furniture and decorations. Everything is planned on the most sumptuous style, and the table service is especially grand.

In Memoriam.

The Presbyterian, a religious journal of national reputation and circulation, contains the following notice of the death of Mr. George Furst, which was announced in the NEWS at the time of its occurrence:

GEORGE FURST.

In Beech Creek, Clinton county, Pa. September 1st, 1884, Mr. George Furst, aged seventy-one years, five months and thirteen days. Mr. Furst was a ruling elder in the Presbyterian church at Beech Creek since its organization, and always a liberal supporter, having been instrumental in its being built. In all his relations, social and official, he was known as a man of truth and strict integrity. He was stricken with paralysis in March, 1883, from the effects of which he never recovered, and his long sickness and severe suffering were borne without a murmur. He was greatly respected as a citizen, cherished as a friend, esteemed as a Christian, and loved as a husband and father. He died in perfect peace. His body was laid amongst his kindred in Cedar Springs Cemetery, near Salona, in Clinton county, Pa.

—The meeting in the Blaine and Logan club room Friday night was the largest yet held, about 150 persons being present, among whom were some Democrats. President Reeder presided and Mr. Wm. Hillibish officiated as secretary. D. H. Hastings, Esq., made a strong speech, confining himself principally to a discussion of the tariff issue, which he said was one of the questions which had presented itself before the American people since the beginning of our government and is yet unsettled, appealing to men now more forcibly than ever before. He used familiar illustrations to enforce his argument in favor of a protective tariff, iron, upon which the prosperity of this community depends, being the principal one. He was followed by J. G. Love, Esq., who spoke eloquently and brilliantly, referring to the history of the tariff and appealing to the sovereignty of American citizenship, which, he contended, if properly exercised, makes each man greater than a foreign potentate.

—The gentlemen of the borough council may profitably turn their attention to the lock-up which occupies a secluded position on Water street. A few evenings since two intoxicated individuals were incarcerated in its gloomy and presumably secure cells. One of these prisoners, when taken out next morning and escorted to the jail, was about as much under the influence of King Alcohol as when first put in. The truth is, that persons can pass the exhilarating drink into the lock-up and prisoners can continue their spree almost as conveniently as if not behind bolts and bars. If the purpose of this institution is to be accomplished this should be remedied.

The Moose Run Sabbath School Picnic.

This event occurred in the grove near Moose Run school house on Saturday last and was the most brilliantly successful celebration in the history of the school or in the affairs of that community. The Citizens' Cornet Band, of Milesburg, which is now the finest organization of the kind in Centre county, was present and discoursed music. This band is always practicing something new and their musical repertoire includes the newest and choicest selections which they render in a very artistic manner. Games were also indulged in and all took part, and by the earnestness which was thrown into the games one would suppose that the pleasures of a life time were to be condensed into a single day. Mr. Chas. Treziyulny, for example, proved himself to be as fleet as a deer, and much faster than most of the dears present, for he can catch a girl in 30 yards, giving her 20 yards start; but, then, none of the girls try to run away from him very fast.

Dinner was partaken of at the usual hour. There's not a place in Centre county where the word "dinner" contains deeper significance than at Moose Run. It means the palace of delights to any one who has even half an appetite. Everything a person can want was offered to him, and all, especially chicken, was in endless quantity. One of the members of the band vowed that he would finish the chicken if it took him all night and part of the next day to do it, and he began on the neck of the fowls. When seven of them had been relieved of their meat and still others stared him in the face he gave up the task for fear too many of the delicate morsels would finish him.

In regard to the band it is worthy of remark that the bass blower has begun to wear eye glasses which give his phiz a very distinguished appearance. Go ahead, Oscar; you'll all be "professors" bye and bye.

The Jewish New Year.

With the setting of the sun last Friday evening was ushered in the New Year of the Hebrews, 5645. The festival, which is so soon followed by the Day of Atonement, is most rigidly observed by the reform as well as the orthodox Israelites. As the day's name signifies memorial or remembrance, it becomes the pious duty of the Israelites to make a careful self-examination, to judge of his conduct as the Heavenly Judge is thought to do, in preparation for the great Day of Atonement, the most sacred on the Jewish Calendar. A portion of the services consist of the plaintive, tremulous notes of the hour, sounding an alarm to the human conscience, inciting its hearers to greater virtues and less errors by confession, by penitence and by good deeds; reparation for the past and resolution for the future. In some of the synagogues the curtains of the ark, the massive wrappings of the scrolls and the pulpit coverings are all of pure and spotless white.—Altoona Times.

—Few people are aware that an immense iron viaduct is being erected across the Moshannon at the "Shelvings," about twelve miles from Philipsburg, by the B. C., C. & S. W. R. R. Co. This large bridge, when finished, will be 780 feet in length, and 123 feet from the water. It will rest on eight towers being composed of four iron pillars, knit together with iron braces, the towers resting on two stone piers, 33 feet apart. The viaduct will be built entirely of iron and stone, and will be the most majestic railroad structure on the Allegheny mountains. It is being pushed to completion as rapidly as possible and is expected to be finished by the time the track is laid from Philipsburg to that point.—Philipsburg Ledger.

—The Western Union Telegraph office was well represented at the rink on Saturday night. Tthere was George Washington Mifflin Dallas Kennedy under a full pressure of steam, rolling rapidly around the rink, while the sedate manager looked out from beneath a glossy high silk hat expecting to see his pupil come in contact with some young lady with mashing effect.

A Judicial Deadlock.

The Democratic Judicial conferees of this district are in perplexity. They met on Thursday in Huntingdon and balloted eight times for a candidate, Mr. Bailey being the Huntingdon county candidate, and the present encumbent, Judge Adam Hoy, being supported by the conferees from this county. The vote stood 3 to 3 at each ballot. An adjournment was taken until to-day (Wednesday) at Tyrone.

The Altoona Tribune says of the conference: "The conferees from Centree county in support of Judge Hoy are D. W. Holt, Philipsburg; P. J. McDonald, Unionville, and C. M. Bower, Bellefonte. The Huntingdon county conferees supporting J. M. Bailey, of Huntingdon, are George M. Cresswell, Petersburg; S. E. Henry Huntingdon, and Robert McBurney, McAlevey's Fort. In behalf of Judge Hoy his friends asked for his nomination first, as an endorsement of Governor Pattison's appointment; second, because he had lost his practice through accepting the president judgeship, and third that Centre county's twelve hundred Democratic majority would insure his election. Chairman Cresswell, in behalf of Mr. Bailey, presented but one claim in behalf of his candidate, viz: that his nomination would assist materially in the success of the fusion ticket in this county."

A Family Reunion.

The Gast family, who held a reunion on Thursday on the farm of John Wolf in Miles township, is one of the most remarkable in this section. It was on this same farm that John Nicholas Gast settled in 1793. Christian Gast, his brother, came here from Wertemberg, Germany, at a still earlier date. John Nicholas Gast had ten children, who with their mother, attained a most remarkable longevity. She lived to the age of 94 and some of the children reached the age of 90. Six of them—four daughters and two sons—still survive, and all have passed their 75th year. The descendants of J. N. Gast are residents of this vicinity, most of them living in Clinton, Centre and Union counties and among them are legions of grandchildren. Among the familiar names in this county are the Wolfs, Consers Gramleys, Bartges, Dinges, and Halls. The other brother, Christian Gast, removed to Ohio, where many of his descendants are living and quite a large representation of them were present at the reunion.

The P. of H. Picnic.

The attendance at the picnic of the Patrons of Husbandry was not so large as on previous occasions, doubtless because of the low temperature. Those who attended are lavish in their praises of the manner in which it was conducted. The parties who went to the picnic together gathered in groops and partook of dinner which they had brought with them. Young and old enjoyed themselves and no accident marred the pleasure of the occasion.

An admirable address was delivered by W. W. Downey, State Lecturer of West Virginia. The audience had to forego the pleasure of listening to Mr. Leonard Rhone, Master of the State Grange, as that gentleman was ill.

—On Friday last Mr. Linn Longwell met with a painful accident. He is keeping books at Tyrone Forges and in going to his place of employment each day walks quite a distance. It is customary to explode dynamite torpedoes at one place along the railroad, as the train passes, and Linn happened to walk along just as the torpedo exploded. A fragment of the torpedo struck him in the leg cutting quite a gash in the fleshy part below the knee. We understand that Linn, though suffering severely, sticks valliantly at his work and is taken back and forth in a carriage. We hope he will soon recover from his injury.

—Major-General Hartranft, in his report upon the Gettysburg encampment, National Guard, will urge the need of a National encampment where troops from three or four States and a division of the regular army can meet under command of a Major-General of the army. General Hartranft heartily approves of the commissary arrangements at Gettysburg, the meals being provided by the department at a cost of a little over 17 cents per man per day, while in some Eastern States the men form clubs and engage a caterer at a cost, in some cases, of a dollar per day each.

—We are informed that our collector Mr. Samuel Brooks, visited the roller rink on Friday evening, putting on the skates. But before he had gone far he became very weary and sat down with extreme suddenness. His hat sailed off in one direction and his feet in another, and it was some time before he collected himself together again.

—Mr. Robert Valentine seems to be indulging in a species of agriculture which is comparatively rare hereabouts. Amid luxurious green vines, in the garden at the rear of his residence, seven or eight very fine looking cantaloupes are noticeable, and it is only since the dry weather has retarded the growth of the vines that the cantaloupes have become visible peeping out from among them. They are ripe and tempting in appearance, but that barbed wire fence renders them about as secure as if locked in one of Warner's fire and burglar proof safes.

—High street now has a private watchman whose nightly vigils will doubtless prove useful to business men along that thoroughfare. Mr. Joshua Foulk has been selected for that office and as he has thus far not secured pledges for payment sufficient to warrant his long continuance at this duty it is suggested that business firms and citizens who consider such an officer desirable contribute to the increase of his salary. A small sum from each man will not be felt while it may prove a very profitable investment.
